Birmingham's Desegregation Pact Is Backed

Some Businesses Say Negro Trade Climbs, White Patrons Lag

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A desegregation pact aimed at ending this industrial city's racial unrest has the backing of some of Alabama's most prominent businessmen.

Their names were disclosed Wednesday night amid reports of a budding boycott of stores by white persons opposing the bi-racial agreement.

Both white and Negro leaders say they will stick to the agreement despite efforts to influence white shoppers to boycott downtown merchants.

Negroes, who launched a boycott a year ago in their campaign for desegregation, are appearing in greater numbers in the stores, but merchants report fewer white shoppers. The merchants are worried, and some say the city's economic plight, already bad, is becoming more serious.

Commission Mayor Arthur Hanes and Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor have called on white residents to boycott the downtown merchants in retaliation for the desegregation pact.

A spokesman for a citizens committee said release of the names of 77 persons asked to participate in efforts to solve the city's racial problems was designed to avert further violence and to head off a large scale white boycott. The spokesman said "only a few" of the 77 did not participate in the committee's efforts. They were not designated.

In Montgomery, Gov. George Wallace, an avid segregationist, accused President Kennedy of setting up a military dictatorship by sending special troops into Alabama for possible use in Birmingham. The governor promised to file a suit in federal court to test the legality of the President's order.

Kennedy ordered 3,000 combat-trained troops to Alabama bases for possible use in Birmingham after bloody rioting erupted in the city last weekend.

A Negro integration leader, the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth Jr., was convicted in City Court of parading without a permit in a mass march April 12. He was sentenced to 180 days in jail, fined $100 and released under an appeal bond of $2,500.

Liquor Examiner Shakeup Ordered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Plans for a drastic shakeup of his staff of field examiners assigned to the job of auditing Ohio's $223 million-a-year liquor business was announced today by state Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

Tracy said the shakeup will go into effect as quickly as feasible with reassignment of the 14 men involved in auditing the accounts of 355 liquor stores, agencies and warehouses.

The move, the auditor said, is prompted by the recent disclosure of a shortage of $8,324 in a liquor agency in Dillonvale, Jefferson County, over a two-year period. Four state examiners who made 10 audits of the Dillonvale outlet failed to detect any major discrepancies in the agency accounts, which, Tracy declared, is "inexcusable."

Celina Boy Indicted For Traffic Deaths

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Edwin Hoenie Jr., 18, of Celina, has been indicted by the Auglaize County Grand Jury on two counts of traffic manslaughter in the deaths of a Celina teenager and a St. Marys soldier.

Hoenie, now in Lima Memorial Hospital suffering from back injuries, is charged with being the driver of an automobile which went out of control on Ohio 66A near New Bremen May 4. Killed instantly in the accident was Pvt. Lincoln E. Temple, 20, of St. Marys, home on leave from the Army. Robert Frame Jr., 16, of Celina, died of his injuries the following day.

Haitian Dictator Insists He Is Remaining in Office

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Haiti's Dictator-President Francois Duvalier insists he will remain in office despite reports abroad that he is planning to flee his rebellion-threatened country.

"Haiti will continue under my administration," Duvalier told American correspondents summoned to his palace Wednesday in an apparent effort to scotch reports he intended to flee.

By showing himself unscathed, Duvalier, 55, scored a victory over enemies who had sworn to kill him rather than let him begin a new presidential term.

Duvalier's constitutional term of office expired Wednesday, but he declared himself re-elected for six more years after a rigged ballot two years ago.

Duvalier's regime plans a splurge for his inauguration May 22. Haitians throughout the countryside are being herded into trucks and carted to Port au Prince.

The people also are being forced to "contribute" to help defray expenses of the inaugural celebration.

"Papa Doc," as he is known to the Negro Haitians may survive that day, too, but foreign observers of Haiti's troubles give him no more than another year at the helm of his impoverished, fear-ridden little nation.

Clement Barbot, once Duvalier's right-hand man, has sworn to kill his former chief and is at large somewhere in Haiti with a band of underground fighters.

Haitian exiles abroad have been reported planning invasions of the country.

The other nations of the hemisphere as solidly opposed to his dictatorship though as yet they have not been able to agree on any action against him.

Despite the opposition, Duvalier exuded self-confidence as he appealed for better relations with the United States but made plain he would not tolerate outside interference in his rule.

Duvalier assailed the "shortcomings of certain men" in the United States "who should have directed their efforts toward understanding Haiti and its people."

He added, however, that relations between Haiti and the United States are easier at the moment.

Soviet Trawler Sighted Near U.S. Space Monitor

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—A Soviet trawler of the type the Soviets use for electronic snooping was sighted today near a U.S. ship monitoring astronaut Gordon Cooper's space flight, an informed source said.

A U.S. destroyer sighted the trawler in international waters in the general vicinity of the American ship Coastal Sentry which is monitoring Cooper's flight and may control his re-entry at the end of the 22-orbit flight.

The trawler's mission has not been determined, the source said.

Astronaut's Splashdown Awaited in Pacific Area

Here's Cooper Flight Log

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Here is the orbit-by-orbit log of Gordon Cooper's space flight, following the blastoff at 8:04 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Wednesday.

Orbit 1
8:18 a.m.—The first pictures of Cooper were televised to earth. 9:31 a.m.—Cooper told astronaut Virgil I. Grissom at Guaymas, Mexico, that the flight was "quite a thrill." He reported seeing the earth's haze layer, John H. Glenn Jr.'s "fireflies," or bits of frost glistening in the sun, and the lights of Perth, Australia.

Orbit 2
11 a.m.—Cooper said, as he passed over California, "I had a little nap."

Orbit 3
11:29 a.m.—Cooper released a small sphere with two bright flashing lights for an experiment in judging distances as the sphere drifted away from the capsule. 12:46 p.m.—Mercury Control said Cooper was off on a "text-book flight."

2 p.m.—Trudy Cooper heard her husband's voice in their Houston home and said it was "most reassuring."

Aerospace Firm Saved From Strike

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The AFL-CIO Machinists' Union's acceptance of a new contract with the Boeing Co. spells the end of 10 months of bickering and three threatened strikes at the big aerospace firm.

For the 41,000 hourly workers to whom it applies, the pact spells financial reward and an end to uncertainty.

Best estimates Wednesday after word the contract was approved "4,205 to 4,688 in last Friday's balloting was almost $30-million in salary increases during the three-year life of the agreement with an average retroactive pay of about $200.

In the Seattle-Renton area, where the firm is headquartered and where about 31,000 of the affected employees work, it means that about $5 million will be pumped into the local economy in a spate of paydays June 21.

The contract provides boosts of 22 to 32 cents hourly improvement in employee rating, union security and other benefits. Present scales range from $1.98½ to $3.27½ an hour.

First pay raises will appear in July 7 checks. The retroactive pay, amounting to about $7 million for all the affected workers, dates back to Sept. 6 when the old contract expired. It will appear in June 21st paychecks.

2:02 p.m.—Asked if he had yet sighted the flashing light sphere, Cooper said, "Affirm. I was with that little rascal all night last night."

Orbit 5
2:10 p.m.—Cooper described how he saw the flashing beacon. "I yawed around 180 degrees and all of a sudden I saw it rising up from below me. I could see it flashing before I could see it flashing, so apparently I was getting some sunlight off it."

3:01 p.m.—Mercury Control said Cooper's use of electricity and fuel were lower than called for in the flight plan.

Orbit 6
5:07 p.m.—Cooper, over Hawaii, disclosed he had tried to deploy and inflate a balloon, but that it was a failure.

Orbit 7
6:07 p.m.—Cooper was told he could try for 17 orbits.

Orbit 8
7:34 p.m.—The capsule cabin temperature had stabilized at about 67 degrees. He discussed with Zanzibar, Africa, a discrepancy in his cabin clock.

Orbit 9
8:47 p.m.—Cooper told the Rose Knot Victor tracking ship about 3,000 miles off the Chilean coast that he was starting his rest period.

Orbit 10
10:32 p.m.—Cooper continued drifting in a rest period.

11:02 p.m.—Cooper apparently was asleep as he passed over the ship, Coastal Sentry, south of Japan.

11:22 p.m.—Telemetry to Canton Island showed 82 per cent of the automatic fuel left and 90 per cent (Continued on Page 2)

New Canadian A-Policy To Be Challenged

OTTAWA, (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's decision to accept nuclear weapons appeared headed for an early challenge as Canada's new Parliament assembled today amid traditional pomp and ceremony.

No political fireworks were expected at the opening meeting, however. The chief business was the speech from the throne, outlining the new Liberal government's legislative program. Opposition leaders will get a chance Friday to deal with the nuclear issue when they answer the throne speech.

The throne speech usually is read by the governor general, but Chief Justice Robert Taschereau was chosen to substitute for ailing Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier.

Forecasters said the speech would place heavy emphasis on measures to boost Canada's economy. The federal budget will not be submitted until mid-June.

Because the Liberal party has only a minority of the House of Commons seats the debate on the throne speech will have unusual significance. The government could be toppled by a vote of no confidence. Political observers generally predict that the opposition leaders will strike out vigorously at the nuclear decision announced in Hyannis Port, Mass., last Saturday but that they will not try to bring down the government.

Death Penalty Sought In Hitchhiker Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state has demanded the death penalty for Franklin T. Clark, 24, accused of first-degree murder in the Nov. 2 gun slaying of David E. Mason of Newark.

The prosecution charges that Clark, a hitchhiker, had killed Mason and thrown the body out of the car into a field at the western limits of Columbus.

Germans OK French Pact

BONN, Germany (AP)—The lower house of the West German Parliament overwhelmingly approved today the French-German friendship treaty between the longtime enemies.

Solons Approve Campus Curb On Speakers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Government Operations Committee Wednesday night recommended for approval a bill calling for regulation of speakers on campuses of Ohio's state universities.

The initial vote was 13-7, three members being absent when the first roll call vote was taken. Twelve votes were necessary. There was a little partyline jumping—three Democrats voting for the measure and two Republicans against.

Sponsors say the bill is aimed at keeping communists and subversives off campus platforms.

Two minor amendments were added, but they made no change in the impact of the bill which was initially submitted in the Ohio House by Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Columbus, and then rewritten by a subcommittee headed by Thomas M. Herbert, R-Columbus.

Stephen A. Zone, D - Cleveland, said he didn't think the bill was strong enough, but voted for it. He was joined by fellow Democrats Jesse Yoder of Dayton and Joseph J. Horvath of Cleveland.

Bernie K. MacKenzie, D-Canton, declared in opposition that the bill places on speakers the same dictatorial powers "that we criticize the communists for. Hearing speakers does no greater harm than reading books on the subject."

Yoder replied: "I don't think we in America have room for this kind of speaker (communist or subversive) to poison the minds of our students."

Opposition centered on the contention that the speaker issue—which has been a long-standing one at Ohio State University—is not a matter for the Ohio General Assembly.

"I can't bring myself to believe this is a legislative matter," said Robert Carpenter R-Tiffin, "and even if it were, at this late date, it will not cure Ohio State's troubles."

Republican Margaret Dermisop of Warren added: "We should not attempt to hide the nature of the world from our students."

Under the bill, no one could speak on a state-supported campus if he is a member of the Communist Party of the United States or any organization which is a communist-action, communist-front or communist-infiltrated organization.

An amendment by Democratic whip Richard Christiansen of Mansfield, which was accepted, defines these as groups appearing on lists compiled by the U.S. Attorney General and the Subversive Activities Control Board.

500-Foot Long Petition Received

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—House Speaker Roger Cloud, R - Logan, has declined comment on what effect a 500-foot petition bearing 15,000 signatures might have on the proposed subdistricting of Cuyahoga County.

Cloud received the big bundle of names Wednesday from nine members of the Ohio League of Women Voters who said they collected them in only a few days.

The petitions favor subdistricting the county for legislative elections, giving each district authority to elect one member to the Ohio House.

The proposal before the legislature has drawn strong opposition from Democrats who claim it must include all counties that elect more than one representative, not just Cuyahoga alone.

Supersonic Test Flights To Be Placed on Shelf

PERU, Ind. (AP)—Residents along the Midwest corridor used by the Air Force for flights by B58 bombers will be relieved of sonic booms for 90 days beginning June 30.

Bunker Hill Air Force Base officials said Wednesday a new corridor will be selected to replace the present one running between Farmington, Mo., and Cleveland by way of Cincinnati.

22-Orbit Flight Perfect So Far

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Gordon Cooper, a superbly performing space pilot, sped on toward completion of his marathon 22-orbit flight today, heading for an afternoon splashdown in the Pacific Ocean.

With astronaut and spacecraft in excellent working order, Mercury Control Center flashed the good word to Cooper during his 16th orbit that he had the green light to go all the way.

If there is no emergency hitch, the reverse rockets on Cooper's Faith 7 capsule are to be fired east of Shanghai, China, about 6:02 p.m. Eastern Standard Time to begin a gradual descent to a parachute landing in the Pacific some 80 miles southeast of Midway Island.

Touchdown time was scheduled about 6:20 p.m.—2:20 p.m. Midway Time.

A large Pacific recovery force, headed by the carrier Kearsarge, waited in the area. The Kearsarge hoped to improve on its record of last Oct. 3, when it had astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. on board just 42 minutes after he landed some 9,000 yards from the craft.

Cooper was waved on for the full flight not long after he awakened from a good night's sleep.

During the 16th orbit, Mercury Control Center at Cape Canaveral evaluated the condition of the astronaut and spacecraft systems and then waved Cooper's Faith 7 past a go-no-go decision point over Australia.

"Roger, very good," was Cooper's reaction when the tracking station at Mueha, Australia, relayed the good word.

If anything had been amiss, Cooper would have been ordered to fire his spacecraft reverse rockets over the eastern Pacific for a landing in the Atlantic Ocean.

Control center officials reported the pilot was "in excellent condition. He is strong, his attitude is good and he is managing his systems excellently."

Cooper, 36, an Air Force major completed his first 24 hours in space shortly after 8 a.m. while whirling eastward in his 16th orbit. During that time, he got a good night's rest of about 7½ hours.

"Did you have any dreams?" Cooper was asked as he passed near Cape Canaveral not long after he awoke.

"Negative," he replied. "I slept too soundly."

"I think he must be saving words for posterity or something," said Lt. Col. John A. Powers the voice of Mercury Control.

But as a pilot, Cooper's performance topped anything by a U.S. astronaut so far.

His use of the fuel and oxygen supplies of his Faith 7 spacecraft were excellent. As his 16th orbit began, Powers reported that Cooper had 70 per cent of the fuel supply remaining in Faith 7's automatic control system, 90 per cent in the manual system. In his first 24 hours aloft, he consumed only

Cooper's Catnaps in Orbit Hailed by Space Scientists

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Call it nonchalance, or just easy going, but sometimes—within the privacy of his sky cabin—it's hard to tell whether astronaut Gordon Cooper is awake or asleep.

Even in the last tense minutes, waiting to blast off, Cooper may have dozed off.

Again—in some quiet moments as he approached the California coast on his second orbit—Cooper dropped off to sleep again.

Finally after 12 hours and 40 minutes in space, Cooper reached the 0-hour period circumscribed as a "don't call me, I'll call you" time in which he could rest undisturbed by calls from the ground.

It took him barely five minutes to relax to the point where his doctors could say it appeared he was asleep.

The doctors say Cooper was very near sleep, if not actually dozing at a time during the last 90 minutes of his countdown. They watched on the instru-

25 per cent of his primary oxygen supply and none of his emergency supply.

However, Powers said absolutely no consideration was being given to a possible extension of the flight past 22 orbits.

Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., said he had spoken to Cooper's wife, Trudy, in Houston, Tex., this morning and that she told him she had awakened about the same time her husband apparently awoke.

She wished to know when she could listen in again on the special radio installed in the Cooper home for the conversations between her husband and Cape Canaveral, Schirra said.

He added, "She's in good spirits."

Cooper went to sleep about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday night, after talking with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., who is aboard the tracking ship Coastal Sentry off the coast of Japan. Tracking stations kept silent through the night.

And then at 5:26 a.m. Powers said, trackers in Mueha, Australia, "heard a familiar voice, and it was that of Gordon Cooper."

Cooper reported that he had some discomfort during the night when his spacesuit heated up. But he said he adjusted the temperature setting and went back to sleep.

Powers said the astronaut reported that "as far as he was concerned everything on the spacecraft was nominal."

Nominal is an astronaut word meaning normal.

Mrs. Cooper Plans Reunion

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Gordon Cooper was planning a flight of her own today as her astronaut husband whizzed around the earth, making American space history.

Mrs. Cooper, a pretty brunette, said she planned to take her teenage daughters with her when she flies to Hawaii Friday for a reunion with Cooper if his 34-hour, 22-orbit flight ends in the Pacific as scheduled.

Trudy Cooper saw on television Wednesday what she termed a "beautiful" launch for her husband's Faith 7 capsule. She and her two daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, talked with Cooper by telephone just before the near-perfect blastoff at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The family watched the launching on four television sets in their brick and stone ranch-style home 25 miles east of downtown Houston.

Zanesville Clinic Aided

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Welfare Department announced today a grant of $1,971,904 to help finance a $5,634,350 208-bed replacement of the Bethesda Hospital at Zanesville, Ohio.

ments as his breathing rate fell to a sleeping pattern of about 12 breaths a minute, and became very regular, and his heart in diastolic sleep too.

They got the same report from the astronaut's body Wednesday night as he passed over Ascension Island, about five minutes after his rest period began.

Being considerate fellows, they didn't ring him up and ask if he was asleep.

Unlike most bosses, space officials don't look down on this kind of catnap on the job. Also unlike most bosses they can tell whether an astronaut is dozing because the space pilot's body is wired with sensors that tattle on him—take his electrocardiogram, breathing rate, temperature and so forth.

Actually his doctors were happy to see him napping earlier in the flight because it indicated he would have little trouble sleeping during the rest period.

Theft of Money Is Investigated

Circleville Police today investigated the theft of money from an office at 233 N. Court St.

The money belonging to Dr. H. H. Swope who was formerly located at the office, was taken from a filing cabinet. Police said the loot amounted to $120 in cash and $86.50 in checks.

The theft was reported by Mary Louise Rooney, Route 3, an employee of Dr. Swope. She said the cash and checks were removed from a money bag that had been placed in the cabinet. Several checks were left on the bag.

Police Sgt. Turney Ross said the money apparently was taken between noon Monday and yesterday.

End to Tropical Tariffs Is Urged

GENEVA (AP)—Christian A. Herter, President Kennedy's chief trade negotiator, called today for unanimous approval by the world's great trading nations of a project for doing away with customs duties on tropical products as a way of helping poorer countries.

He spoke to delegates representing 73 nations. They opened a week-long conference today which could become history's most far-reaching attack on barriers to world trade.

Local Heads View Operations, Dedication at New PPG Plant

Approximately 70 local government and civic heads participated in dedication ceremonies yesterday at the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. Central Resins plant south of here.

The ceremony was highlighted by tours throughout the plant and grounds area. This was followed by a lunch at the Pickaway Country Club.

Several executives from PPG's Coatings and Resins Division were present for the special observance.

Jury Favors Defendant in Court Action

All 12 members of a Pickaway County Common Pleas Court jury yesterday signed a verdict in favor of Mrs. Florence Jury, 514 N. Court St., defendant of a trial with several relatives opposing her.

The jury returned its verdict shortly before noon after about 45 minutes of deliberations. Mrs. Jury's attorneys were Richard Penn and Ray Davis.

The court action, to set aside the transfer of 130 shares of stock, opened Monday. The hearing was completed yesterday with a lengthy discourse by Judge William Ammer.

Plaintiffs of the trial were Nolan D. Bitzer and other children of the late Mrs. Jessie M. Bitzer, including two grandchildren.

SEVERAL months before the death of Mrs. Bitzer, 130 shares of stock were transferred to her daughter, Mrs. Jury, who was providing nursing care for her at the time.

Plaintiffs contended that the transfer of stock was made through fraud and undue influence by Mrs. Jury and that Mrs. Bitzer intended her property be divided equally among them.

The 12-member jury unanimously acted in favor of the defendant in the three-day court session.

Berger Head Lauds Work Of Guilds

"Through equipment contributions made by the guilds of Berger Hospital, the hospital has been able to improve services rendered to the community," Miss Ellen Leist, Berger Hospital's administrator, said today in commending the guilds.

The guilds have completed a very successful and busy year, Miss Leist said, and each department of the hospital has received needed equipment through the work of these voluntary groups.

This year the Medical-Surgical Wing and the Nursery Wing of the Maternity Department received the "annual gift" from the General Guild.

A surgilift, mechanical device for transporting injured patients, and a unit used for assisting invalid patients were presented to the Medical-Surgical Wing.

A new isolette for premature babies was contributed to the Nursery Wing by the General Guild.

In addition to the "annual gift" made by the General Guild, each guild contributes equipment, linens and instruments to the hospital throughout the year.

Miss Leist, speaking for the Board of Governors and other hospital employees, today expressed her appreciation for the interest and "work given so generously to Berger Hospital by the guilds."

Laurelville Firemen Schedule Fish Fry

The Laurelville Volunteer Fire Department has slated a fish fry in the Village Community park May 25.

Theft of Money Is Investigated

Circleville Police today investigated the theft of money from an office at 233 N. Court St.

The money belonging to Dr. H. H. Swope who was formerly located at the office, was taken from a filing cabinet. Police said the loot amounted to $120 in cash and $86.50 in checks.

The theft was reported by Mary Louise Rooney, Route 3, an employee of Dr. Swope. She said the cash and checks were removed from a money bag that had been placed in the cabinet. Several checks were left on the bag.

Police Sgt. Turney Ross said the money apparently was taken between noon Monday and yesterday.

in the manual fuel system.

Orbit 11
12:01 a.m.—Cooper was over the tip of Brazil and presumed asleep.

1:01 a.m.—Cooper had been in orbit 16 hours and 58 minutes, nearly the halfway point of the projected voyage. Referring to his sudden increase in heartbeats, Mercury Control said: "The thought now is that Gordon perhaps awoke and reset one of his suit temperatures because it had risen approximately 20 degrees." Over Kano, Nigeria, suit temperature had dropped back to normal.

Orbit 12
2:31 a.m.—Past the halfway point now, Cooper still slept. Asked how he kept the sunlight out of his eyes, Mercury Control said there was a curtain that could be drawn over the capsule window.

Orbit 13
3:31 a.m.—With the capsule in drifting flight, telemetry showed Cooper still in "sleep configuration."

Orbit 14
5:26 a.m.—The Muchea, Australia, tracking station "suddenly heard a familiar voice and it was that of Gordon Cooper." The astronaut said he had slept "pretty good." He confirmed that he had some discomfort with the suit during the night, but had corrected it quickly.

6:05 a.m.—Talking to Cape Canaveral, Cooper said he did not have any dreams.

Obit 15

6:32 a.m.—Cooper told the Zanzibar track station he had used only 25 per cent of his primary oxygen supply and that he had not yet eaten anything since waking up. Asked how he felt he said: "Just fine. Excellent."

7:31 a.m.—Mercury Control reported fuel and supply factors were well above expected levels. Auxiliary oxygen supplies had not even been touched.

7:44 a.m.—He soared on over the Atlantic.

8:25 a.m.—Muchea, Australia, station relayed word from Mercury Control Center that Cooper had a go-ahead for full 22-orbit mission. "Roger, very good," the astronaut commented.

8:30 a.m.—Using a 35mm robot still camera, Cooper snapped pictures of the zodiacal light, a nebulous glow seen on the horizon at sunrise and sunset, and the colorful airglow layer above the horizon.

9:02 a.m.—The pilot oriented Flight 7 so he could take a series of eight horizon pictures for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. MIT will use the photos to determine if the horizon can be used as a guidance reference for returning moonships.

Orbit 17
9:21 a.m.—He began orbit-long period of drifting flight over the Atlantic.

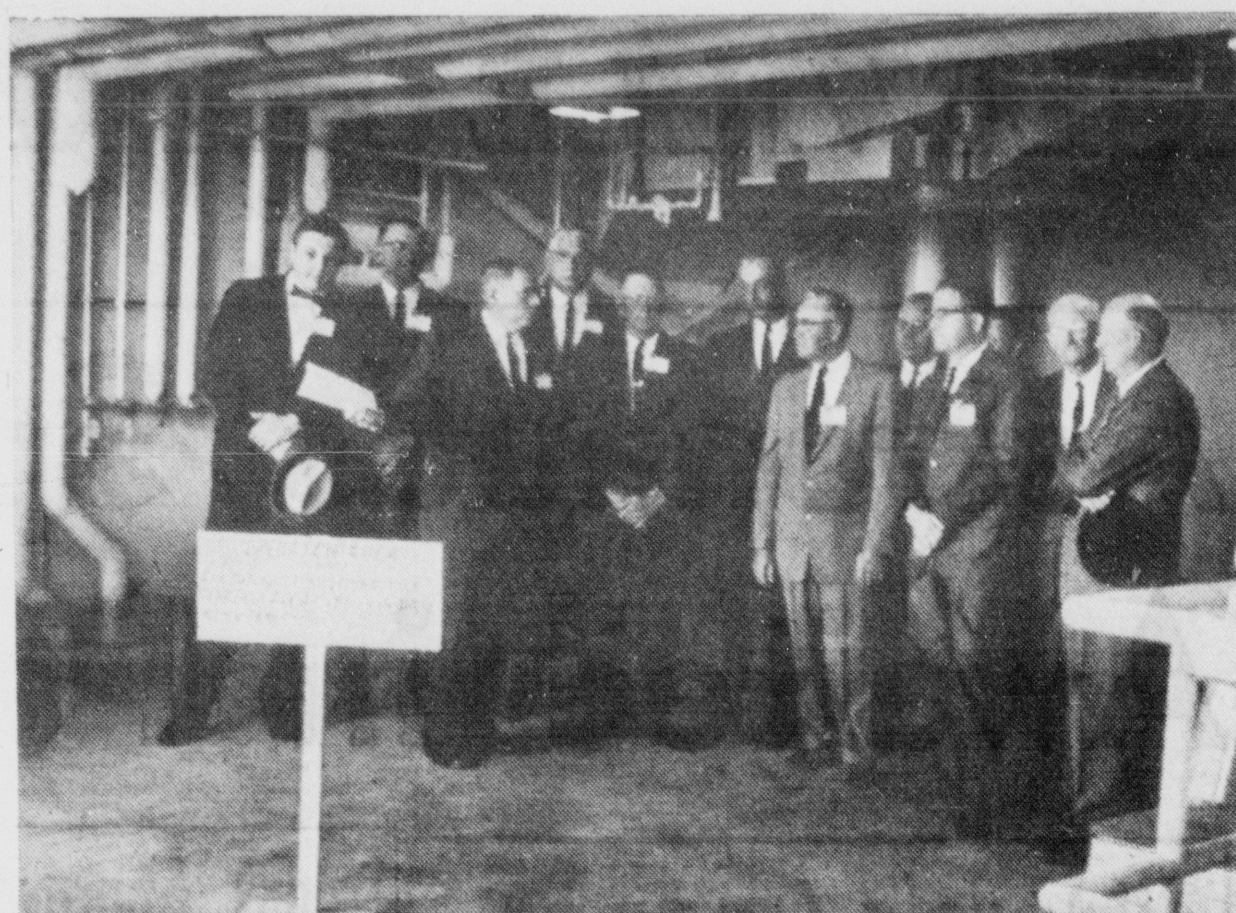

Orbit 18
10:54 a.m.—Orbit started east of Georgia. He reported all systems excellent.

12:02 p.m.—He told astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter at Hawaii tracking station that everything was "progressing smoothly."

End to Tropical Tariffs Is Urged

GENEVA (AP)—Christian A. Herter, President Kennedy's chief trade negotiator, called today for unanimous approval by the world's great trading nations of a project for doing away with customs duties on tropical products as a way of helping poorer countries.

He spoke to delegates representing 73 nations. They opened a week-long conference today which could become history's most far-reaching attack on barriers to world trade.

Local Heads View Operations, Dedication at New PPG Plant

Approximately 70 local government and civic heads participated in dedication ceremonies yesterday at the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. Central Resins plant south of here.

The ceremony was highlighted by tours throughout the plant and grounds area. This was followed by a lunch at the Pickaway Country Club.

Several executives from PPG's Coatings and Resins Division were present for the special observance.

Another highlight was the announced plans for a 50 per cent expansion program at the Circleville site. The announcement was followed by a groundbreaking ceremony.

THE EXPANSION was announced by C. R. Holman, vice presi-

Jury Favors Defendant in Court Action

All 12 members of a Pickaway County Common Pleas Court jury yesterday signed a verdict in favor of Mrs. Florence Jury, 514 N. Court St., defendant of a trial with several relatives opposing her.

The jury returned its verdict shortly before noon after about 45 minutes of deliberations. Mrs. Jury's attorneys were Richard Penn and Ray Davis.

The court action, to set aside the transfer of 130 shares of stock, opened Monday. The hearing was completed yesterday with a lengthy discourse by Judge William Ammer.

Plaintiffs of the trial were Nolan D. Bitzer and other children of the late Mrs. Jessie M. Bitzer, including two grandchildren.

SEVERAL months before the death of Mrs. Bitzer, 130 shares of stock were transferred to her daughter, Mrs. Jury, who was providing nursing care for her at the time.

Plaintiffs contended that the transfer of stock was made through fraud and undue influence by Mrs. Jury and that Mrs. Bitzer intended her property be divided equally among them.

The 12-member jury unanimously acted in favor of the defendant in the three-day court session.

Berger Head Lauds Work Of Guilds

"Through equipment contributions made by the guilds of Berger Hospital, the hospital has been able to improve services rendered to the community," Miss Ellen Leist, Berger Hospital's administrator, said today in commending the guilds.

The guilds have completed a very successful and busy year, Miss Leist said, and each department of the hospital has received needed equipment through the work of these voluntary groups.

This year the Medical-Surgical Wing and the Nursery Wing of the Maternity Department received the "annual gift" from the General Guild.

A surgilift, mechanical device for transporting injured patients, and a unit used for assisting invalid patients were presented to the Medical-Surgical Wing.

A new isolette for premature babies was contributed to the Nursery Wing by the General Guild.

In addition to the "annual gift" made by the General Guild, each guild contributes equipment, linens and instruments to the hospital throughout the year.

Miss Leist, speaking for the Board of Governors and other hospital employees, today expressed her appreciation for the interest and "work given so generously to Berger Hospital by the guilds."

Voting Eligibility Reminders Listed for Wheat Referendum

Producers who have an interest in the 1964 farm wheat acreage allotment are eligible to vote in the 1964 wheat quota referendum, the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation announced today.

According to the ASCS office, a producer who has a farm acreage allotment is a person who:

1. Is and owner-operator, landlord, tenant or share cropper, and
2. is on a farm with a 1964 wheat acreage allotment greater than zero, and 3. will share in the 1964

3 Troy Men Deny Guilt in Larceny Case

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Three of six men charged in connection with alleged misappropriation of funds of the Braun Co. here entered innocent pleas Wednesday when arraigned in Miami County Common Pleas Court.

Paul F. Braun, 36, former vice president of the long-established meat packing firm, indicted on 13 counts of larceny by trick, forgery and grand larceny, denied all the charges.

The other two, William Curtis, 40, of Route 2, Troy, and Ralph Osterloh, 41, of Route 1, Minster, pleaded innocent to charge of larceny by trick.

Offenses allegedly committed against the company extend over a seven-year period, authorities charged.

Three other men charged in the case are due for later arraignment, all on charges of larceny by trick. They are Philip Counts, 29, of Route 2, Covington; Leonard Bixler, 27, of Route 2, Greenville, and William Betts, 28, of Route 2, Piqua.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Occasional light showers moved from west to east across portions of southern and central Ohio late Wednesday night. However, by early today fair skies prevailed over the northern half of the state with mostly cloudy but dry weather in the south.

Temperatures near daybreak today ranged from 40 at Toledo to 58 at Chesapeake. Columbus had 54, Cincinnati 55 and Zanesville 52.

Dry weather is forecast for today except for a few showers in southern counties mostly this morning.

Showers and possible thunderstorms are again likely for sections of Ohio late tonight and Friday as low pressure in the central Plains States approaches the Ohio Valley.

Views on TV-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—As the seconds ticked away, one could feel the mounting tension at Cape Canaveral. It was in the background bustle. It was in the voices of the television and radio commentators, in spite of their best efforts to be brisk and business-like. And it was inside the millions of people who for 24 hours had waited and watched to see the Faith 7 and its human cargo boosted into space.

Later, in the continuing reviews and recaps, on all three major TV networks, through the afternoon and evening, it was merely interesting to see—once again—a huge missile roar into the sky. By then we knew that the launch had been practically perfect and the capsule was in, as they said, "the textbook orbit." But watching it live was something else entirely, even after five other shoots. The viewers' palms were moist, his breath was short at the critical moment.

Unfortunately, the television broadcast from the tiny, slow-scan camera inside the capsule was so fuzzy that the uninitiated could identify little of anything. One gathered that it was the helmet and head of the astronaut at the upper left of the picture but it could have been any object. Maybe it will be better next time.

Throughout the day, the networks followed the flight's progress. There were bulletins on the half hour and there was printed news on the screens, otherwise occupied by the endless parade of tie-killing light diversion. Thus we at home knew in remarkable detail the temperature inside the capsule, even inside the suit, the moment the astronaut tried some exercises, started some experiments and even when he decided to eat lunch.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Back in President Washington's day U.S. Army engineers poked around in the Tennessee River, studying it. Next Saturday President Kennedy goes down to the river to celebrate an anniversary.

Between the two men were a lot of history and people, particularly these five presidents—the two Roosevelts, Wilson, Coolidge and Hoover—and a senator, George W. Norris of Nebraska.

The first Roosevelt, Theodore, made such a big thing of conserving this country's natural resources—and boosting irrigation and reclamation—that some historians consider it his greatest achievement.

But it was something he did in a positive-negative way that has special significance in Kennedy's visit this week. He vetoed a bill for private power development at Muscle Shoals, a 37-mile stretch of rapids in the Tennessee River.

He argued the government should develop the power made available by dams built to improve the stream.

Came World War I and the need for a lot of munitions. Under Wilson a munitions plant was built at Muscle Shoals and a dam, called Wilson, was started to provide power for the plant and improve navigation in the river.

For 15 years after the war there was a great debate: What to do with the plants? Private companies wanted to buy but they offered too little. Norris came into the picture.

He thought the Muscle Shoals properties should be operated publicly. Out of this thinking came the idea of a Tennessee Valley Authority to benefit the whole region. He steered two bills through Congress.

Coolidge vetoed the first (1928) and Hoover the second (1931). Their objection: That TVA would mean government competition with private enterprise. "That," Hoover said, "is not liberalism it is degeneration."

But Franklin D. Roosevelt became president March 4, 1933. Within the next famous 100 days he and Norris got a TVA bill through Congress. Roosevelt signed it into law May 18, 1933.

Kennedy's visit to Muscle Shoals next Saturday is to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the creation of TVA. Norris had later proposed seven other TVA-type programs for other parts of the country, all failed.

U.S. Education Aid Cutoff Voted for Segregated Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Education subcommittee voted Wednesday to cut off all federal aid to public schools that are still segregated as of June 30, 1964.

This provision was put into a bill to continue for one more year the payment of federal funds to school districts burdened because of activities of the federal government.

Known as the impacted areas program, it annually pours about $350 million into 4,000 school districts and reaches all 50 states. Many are in the South.

The anti-segregation amendment was approved unanimously by the subcommittee, which then voted unanimously to report the bill to the full Education and Labor Committee.

Church Adopts Sweeping Civil Rights Program

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Northeast Ohio Acting Association of the United Church of Christ has adopted a sweeping Civil Rights program.

It urges support of fair housing legislation now before a state legislative committee, support of the Birmingham, Ala., Negroes; a promise to work for laws to provide aid to children of the unemployed, and a reaffirmation of the church's position that every local congregation and church-related institution accept new members without discrimination due to race.

Idle Pay Claims Show Decline

COLUMBUS Ohio (A)—New and continuing claimants for unemployment compensation are fewer now than they were at this time last year.

Records of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported that new claims dropped again in the week ended May 11, from 10,450 the previous week to 9,428. Last year, the average number of new claims filed each week in May was 12,826.

On continuing claims, those unemployed one week or more, the total for the week ended May 11 was 79,739 down from the 83,758 of the previous week. In May last year, there was an average of 81,987 continuing claims on file each week.

Voting Eligibility Reminders Listed for Wheat Referendum

Producers who have an interest in the 1964 farm wheat acreage allotment are eligible to vote in the 1964 wheat quota referendum, the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation announced today.

According to the ASCS office, a producer who has a farm acreage allotment is a person who:

1. Is an owner-operator, landlord, tenant or share cropper, and
2. is on a farm with a 1964 wheat acreage allotment greater than zero, and 3. will share in the 1964

3 Troy Men Deny Guilt in Larceny Case

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Three of six men charged in connection with alleged misappropriation of funds of the Braun Co. here entered innocent pleas Wednesday when arraigned in Miami County Common Pleas Court.

Paul F. Braun, 36, former vice president of the long-established meat packing firm, indicted on 13 counts of larceny by trick, forgery and grand larceny, denied all the charges.

The other two, William Curtis, 40 of Route 2, Troy, and Ralph Osterloh, 41, of Route 1, Minster, pleaded innocent to charge of larceny by trick.

Offenses allegedly committed against the company extend over a seven-year period, authorities charged.

Three other men charged in the case are due for later arraignment, all on charges of larceny by trick. They are Philip Counts, 29, of Route 2, Covington; Leonard Bixler, 27, of Route 2, Greenville, and William Betts, 28, of Route 2, Piqua.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Occasional light showers moved from west to east across portions of southern and central Ohio late Wednesday night. However, by early today fair skies prevailed over the northern half of the state with mostly cloudy but dry weather in the south.

Temperatures near daybreak today ranged from 40 at Toledo to 58 at Chesapeake. Columbus had 54, Cincinnati 55 and Zanesville 52.

Dry weather is forecast for today except for a few showers in southern counties mostly this morning.

Showers and possible thunderstorms are again likely for sections of Ohio late tonight and Friday as low pressure in the central Plains States approaches the Ohio Valley.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—As the seconds ticked away, one could feel the mounting tension at Cape Canaveral. It was in the voices of the television and radio commentators, in spite of their best efforts to be brisk and business-like.

And it was inside the millions of people who for 24 hours had waited and watched to see the Faith 7 and its human cargo boosted into space.

Later, in the continuing reviews and recaps, on all three major TV networks, through the afternoon and evening, it was merely interesting to see—once again—a huge missile roar into the sky. By then we knew that the launch had been practically perfect and the capsule was in, as they said, "the textbook orbit." But watching it live was something else entirely, even after five other shoots. The viewers' palms were moist, his breath was short at the critical moment.

Unfortunately, the television broadcast from the tiny, slow-scan camera inside the capsule was so fuzzy that the uninitiated could identify little of anything. One gathered that it was the helmet and head of the astronaut at the upper left of the picture but it could have been any object. Maybe it will be better next time.

Throughout the day, the networks followed the flight's progress. There were bulletins on the half hour and there was printed news on the screens, otherwise occupied by the endless parade of the killing light diversion. Thus we at home knew in remarkable detail the temperature inside the capsule, even inside the suit, the moment the astronaut tried some exercises, started some experiments and even when he decided to eat lunch.

7 Honorary Doctorates
Scheduled by UofC

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati plans to give seven honorary doctorates at commencement ceremonies June 9.

A spokesman said Wednesday recipients of honorary degrees will include Dr. Raymond L. Bisplinghoff, director of advance research in the U. S. space program and a native of Hamilton.

Ohio Trucking Group
Names New President

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Howard E. LeFevre of Newark is the new president of the Ohio Trucking Association.

Also named Wednesday at the group's 45th annual convention was L. Eugene Duff of Lima, first vice president; Ron Sibila of Massillon, secretary, and Charles Dumford, Middletown, treasurer. The outgoing president is J. Otis Ford of Ironton.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Back in President Washington's day U.S. Army engineers poked around in the Tennessee River, studying it. Next Saturday President Kennedy goes down to the river to celebrate an anniversary.

Between the two men were a lot of history and people, particularly these five presidents — the two Roosevelts, Wilson, Coolidge and Hoover — and a senator, George W. Norris of Nebraska.

The first Roosevelt, Theodore, made such a big thing of conserving this country's natural resources — and boosting irrigation and reclamation—that some historians consider it his greatest achievement.

But it was something he did in a positive-negative way that has special significance in Kennedy's visit this week. He vetoed a bill for private power development at Muscle Shoals, a 37-mile stretch of rapids in the Tennessee River.

He argued the government should develop the power made available by dams built to improve the stream.

Came World War I and the need for a lot of munitions. Under Wilson a munitions plant was built at Muscle Shoals and a dam, called Wilson, was started to provide power for the plant and improve navigation in the river.

For 15 years after the war there was a great debate: What to do with the plants? Private companies wanted to buy but they offered too little. Norris came into the picture.

He thought the Muscle Shoals properties should be operated publicly. Out of this thinking came the idea of a Tennessee Valley Authority to benefit the whole region. He steered two bills through Congress.

Coolidge vetoed the first (1928) and Hoover the second (1931). Their objection: That TVA would mean government competition with private enterprise. "That," Hoover said, "is not liberalism it is degeneration."

But Franklin D. Roosevelt became president March 4, 1933. Within the next famous 100 days he and Norris got a TVA bill through Congress. Roosevelt signed it into law May 18, 1933. Kennedy's visit to Muscle Shoals next Saturday is to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the creation of TVA. Norris had later proposed seven other TVA-type programs for other parts of the country, all failed.

U.S. Education Aid Cutoff Voted for Segregated Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Education subcommittee voted Wednesday to cut off all federal aid to public schools that are still segregated as of June 30, 1964.

This provision was put into a bill to continue for one more year the payment of federal funds to school districts burdened because of activities of the federal government.

Known as the impacted areas program, it annually pours about $350 million into 4,000 school districts and reaches all 50 states. Many are in the South.

The anti-segregation amendment was approved unanimously by the subcommittee, which then voted unanimously to report the bill to the full Education and Labor Committee.

Church Adopts Sweeping Civil Rights Program

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Northeast Ohio Acting Association of the United Church of Christ has adopted a sweeping Civil Rights program.

It urges support of fair housing legislation now before a state legislative committee; support of the Birmingham, Ala. Negroes; a promise to work for laws to provide aid to children of the unemployed, and a reaffirmation of the church's position that every local congregation and church-related institution accept new members without discrimination due to race.

Idle Pay Claims Show Decline

COLUMBUS Ohio (A) — New and continuing claimants for unemployment compensation are fewer now than they were at this time last year.

Records of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported that new claims dropped again in the week ended May 11, from 10,450 the previous week to 9,428. Last year, the average number of new claims filed each week in May was 12,826.

On continuing claims, those unemployed one week or more, the total for the week ended May 11 was 79,739 down from the 83,758 of the previous week. In May last year, there was an average of 81,987 continuing claims on file each week.

Inquisitive Neighbors Needed

Sad to say, some neighbors are "Nosey Parkers" and "Peeping Toms." They know the business of everyone in their block, and if what they find out isn't interesting enough, they are capable of inventing something that is.

Some neighbors are exactly the opposite. They couldn't care less what happens next door. Some of them don't even know the name of the family to the right of them, the widow to the left of them, or the landlady across the street. They disprove any theory that no household can be an island.

The aloof neighbor is better in the long run than the Nosey Parker. Except when an emergency arises. Then it is better to have neighbors who keep a close watch on one's house, who know in a flash if anything unusual is going on.

Mrs. Anna Inness of Thornwood, N. Y., is a lady who doubtless wishes that her neighbors were nosier. She fell and broke her hip while cleaning her attic, and she spent 11 days of pain and desperation lying alone and helpless. Finally, her neighbors noticed the pile of newspapers on her doorstep, and called the police.

If she had inquisitive neighbors, they would have heard her screams for help, assumed that she was being attacked, and had a riot squad on her doorstep within minutes.

Office Hypochondriacs Familiar

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Compared to the sweatshops of the past, the modern business office would seem a healthy place to earn a dollar.

It is comfortable, air-conditioned and so well lighted one can work out a crossword puzzle on the job surreptitiously without danger of eye strain.

But for some reason most offices resembled battlefield aid stations. They are full of the walking wounded and incipient stretcher cases.

Naturally, many of the illnesses of the white collar worker are imaginary. He invents them to help pass the time. If you have ever labored in a paper clip salt mine, here are a few swivel chair hypochondriacs you may find familiar:

"Fridayitis" — This guy draws his pay on Thursday so he can have a longer weekend to spend his money.

"Mondayitis" — Very popular with suburbanites this time of year. Also called "The Green Thumb Disease." Victims complain of dizziness and backstrain. Cause: Too much Saturday and Sunday gardening.

"Fridayitis-Mondayitis" — This fellow is mad at the corporation and phones in sick two days a week so he can look for a better job on company time.

"Two Buck Emacius" — The office gambler looks like he is suffering from a wasting disease. Actually he is merely suffering from starvation, because he loses all his money at the racetrack.

"Florence Nightingale Syndrome" — The boss' secretary is a mother hen who clucks constantly over the illness of others. "Cleanliness Complex"—He has a phobia that everyone else in the place is trying to push their germs off on him. If you sneeze within 75 feet of him, he rushes to the company medical office, has his throat sprayed, and lies down for an hour.

"Old Grumpy Himself"—Whenever the boss falls ill, the nature of his malady is regarded as top secret. But whatever it is, the only known cure is a week of golfing in Florida.

The trouble with office hypochondriacs is that when anyone comes down with a disease a doctor can actually diagnose, he crawls painfully to work, even though he feels at death's door, for fear everyone else will feel he is malingering.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the nearly 7,000 shopping centers that have sprung up across the land in recent years have run into trouble. Too many, too close, or in the wrong locations are some of the reasons.

But one highly specialized form—a relatively newcomer, with an enclosed mall, air-conditioned and heated—boasts it will double its numbers within a year.

These are still comparatively few—20 now and maybe 40 a year from now. And last year their total sales came to $1 billion, compared with $55 billion for all centers.

But proponents say they are catching on both in the North, where artificial heat is a selling point, and in the South and Southwest, where refuge from the natural heat draws in the customers.

These enclosed mall, airconditioned centers, called EMAC cost more to build and to run. The additional cost can run as high as $1 million. The rent can be as much as 25 cents a square foot more. But their builder says that increased sales justify the higher rentals.

Twenty more are reported under construction or planned. In addition there are a number of major suburban shopping centers with covered malls—the difference is they aren't totally enclosed and air-conditioned. Some of the newer ones are said to be designed with an eye to conversion later.

Most EMAC complexes are 300,000 square feet or larger with a major department store at each end of the mall.

The mall usually contains fountains and benches, gardens or shrubbery. Often the centers offer community and cultural services along with usual diversified retailing facilities.

"Concerts, art exhibits, garden shows, international film and food festivals, and amateur theater productions are just a few of these," says David Muss, president of Winston-Muss Corp. His firm is the builder for the Long Island and New Jersey centers and has others under way near Phoenix, Ariz., and St. Petersburg, Fla.

He says the pioneer of the movement was a center near Edina, Minn., in 1956. This was followed by others near Kansas City and St. Louis.

EMAC is only one of the trends in shopping centers. They are becoming larger and adding more than shops and parking lots. Now found in some centers are hotels, libraries, hospitals theaters and auditoriums.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ON MONDAY, a gangling college undergraduate landed a summer job with a big company. On Tuesday, he reported for work at 10:15. "You should have been here at nine," the superintendent reproved him. "Why?" asked the undergraduate. "What happened?"

Miss Rosebud Hopkinson, from the Hopkinson plantation in Louisiana, was brought by her mother to New York at the age of seventeen for her very first look at a Northern metropolis. Standing in line for admission to the Radio City Music Hall, Miss Rosebud heard two young men ahead of her conversing in Italian in very animated fashion. "Dawgone," whispered Miss Rosebud to her mother, "Ah cain't make out one word these Yankees say!"

It's tough work making our younger generation laugh out loud, claims Comedian Sid Caesar, who ought to know. "Our kids today," he says, "think they're not 'in' if they laugh in public, or cry, or even applaud. The only way you can tell they get the point of a joke is they sit there snapping their fingers. This means you've really broken them up!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Statistics are rapidly mounting to persuade you bachelors to leave your pinnacle of contentment. For married men have been found to live healthier lives than unmarried men.

Are you tempted? If not, let's try again.

Married people not only have fewer illnesses, but they are also confined less frequently to hospitals.

Still not convinced? When a married person is admitted to a hospital, his stay is about half as long as that of the unmarried bachelor. And the longevity of the bachelor is less than that of the married man.

Now are you ready to take the plunge or are you waiting for an explanation of these confusing statistics?

Perhaps the following will explain it.

Married couples have the responsibility of maintaining and caring for each other's health. Solicitously, they watch over each other for signs of illness and encourage earlier visits to the doctor.

Regular health check-ups seem to be much more common among the married. Stricter adherence to a sensible diet, with plenty of rest and regular hours of sleep, add up to the better health of married couples.

Why, bachelors, do you then continue to resist the temptation of marriage? Better health must be worth a little bit of freedom! Or do you think we're nagging you a bit too much?

carbon tetrachloride is a potential health hazard. Avoid it.

"Hyperbaric" is a relatively new term. Soon the literature for doctors and the laity will be filled with enthusiastic reports about it.

Hyperbaric oxygen techniques are fashioned after the compression chambers used by deep sea divers for the prevention of the "bends."

Large tanks are being installed in hospitals all over America. In these gigantic tanks, complete operating rooms and facilities are being fitted. Surgery performed under hyperbaric oxygen conditions holds forth unlimited possibilities for more and more courageous surgery to be performed with additional safety.

Remember the name hyperbaric. It holds great promise.

Fear is an emotion—and emotions control, alter and affect every organ of our body.

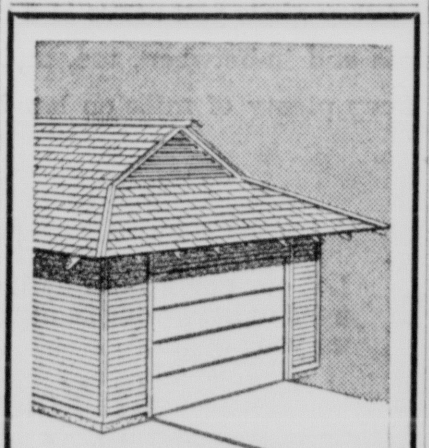

Every illness contains some element of fear. We are afraid of sickness itself. "Will we recover?" "When?" "What happens to my job, my family, while I'm sick?"

Sometimes fear itself can cause an illness. More often, fear is, in itself, a sickness—a sickness of mind, not of body.

Is it shameful to have a sickness of mind? No more than it is to have a cough.

Do you remember when it was shameful to have tuberculosis?

Reaching for It

The other day the foreign minister of Haiti, Rene Chalmers, came rushing to New York to try to interject the race issue into the quarrel which his boss, the dictator Francois Duvalier, has been pursuing with the Dominican Republic, Haiti, so he informed the Security Council of the United Nations, had determined to defend "the cause of the black peoples."

This, as the saying goes, was certainly reaching for it. What Mr. Chalmers was endeavoring to do made just about as much sense as Congressman Adam Clayton Powell makes when he charges "racial discrimination" whenever anyone raises the point of the cost of his Congressional junkets around the world. Yet the Chalmers gambit was made under such circumstances that it probably served its purpose, which was to intimidate the Organization of American States so that it would not do anything about the internal situation in Haiti.

The claim of Haitian champion-ship of Negro rights was brought the New York at the very height of the racial storm and strife in Alabama, and the Haitian government must have calculated that it could get away with any demagoguery in the current atmosphere surrounding race relations in the United States. By a shrewd manipulation of emotions, the Haitian foreign minister may have hoped to make everyone in the U. N. Security Council take leave of such things as reason and the laws of evidence.

However, by all the tests of logic the scene presented by the Haitian effort to make it seem that the Dominican Republic in particular, the Latin American members of the OAS in general, are enemies of the "black peoples" was something for a rewritten version of Alice in Wonderland. Sitting around Mr. Chalmers in the Security Council of the U. N. were representatives of Brazil, which has its own blacks, Indians and mulattoes and makes no issue whatever of "color"; Venezuela, which is not known for racial persecution; and the Dominican Republic itself, which has a mixed population of whites, mulattoes and 19 per cent Negroes. Naturally, the Dominican spokesman, Mr. Velasquez, characterized as absurd Mr. Chalmers' efforts to turn the Haiti-Dominican argument into a struggle between "blacks" and "whites."

In the circumstances Mr. Chalmers could make little headway in his palpable bid to get the Afro-Asian bloc and the Russians openly on his side. But to this casual observer of the two-day argument over the Haitian issue in the Security Council the behavior of Ghana and Russia was proof that they cared less for the issue under discussion than for making propaganda against the United States. This is one of the U. N.'s great excuses for being. We sit and take it, generally speaking.

The Russian member of the Security Council could not very well get caught on the hook of defending the voodooist Haitian strongman, "Papa Doc" Duvalier. But instead of decrying the attempt of the Haitians to raise the race issue where it most certainly did not apply, the Soviet representative made a big play about the time that U. S. Marines were stationed in Haiti. This had no relevance to the issue before the Security Council than "the cause of the black peoples." But the U. N. does not hold its members to courtroom standards of what is or what is not germane.

As for the representative from Ghana, Mr. Alex Quaison-Sackey, he went all around Robin Hood's barn to keep from saying that the Haitian foreign minister was seeing the "race question" under his bed.

At the very moment that the Haitian foreign minister was trying to use the race issue to keep his own tottering boss from being overthrown by a predominantly black population which has every good reason to object to being stamped upon and even murdered, Negro organizations were demonstrating outside the U. N. building against the situation in Birmingham.

Since Haitian President "Papa Doc" Duvalier could give the Birmingham police lessons in repression the effort by his foreign minister inside the U. N. Security Council chamber could have been called completely raw.

But who is to say that the Haitian foreign minister failed to make mileage out of the absurdity? Or that similar efforts won't be made in the U. N. again?

Science Jubilant By Space Flight

Early in the flight, and while Cooper, 36, chatted his way from sunset to sunset as if he did this sort of thing every day, the earth-bound technicians and scientists were jubilant.

After describing the operation as a "textbook flight" "perfect" and "beautiful," they described themselves as "overjoyed"—and then ran out of adjectives.

As for Cooper, he dined—sort of—around 5 p.m., some nine hours after he blasted aloft with a rumble and a flash from Cape Canaveral atop a 360,000-pound thrust Atlas rocket.

For food he had aboard some bite-sized protein packed cubes which he could consume, wrapping and all, and some squeeze tube stuff which has yet to be endorsed by gourmets.

During the 9th orbit—about 8:45 p.m.—the 147-pound Cooper reported he was knocking off work for a while.

With this word, the ground communications stations hung a verbal "do not disturb" sign on the "Faith 7."

However, when the spacecraft passed over the command ship, Coastal Sentry off the coast of Japan Cooper checked in with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

Said Glenn: "We had a message out around the range to keep things quiet."

Cooper: "Roger."

Glenn: "Did you say you were asleep just before this pass?"

Cooper: "I was daydreaming, looking out the window."

At this point, Glenn said he knew Cooper wanted to get some slumber and "We'll tell everyone to go away and leave you alone. Okay?"

It was difficult to tell whether Cooper yawned at this point, but if so, it was the longest distance yawn in history. In any case the "Roger" was a sleepy one.

During the 11th orbit there was a moment when doctors thought the astronaut was dreaming. His heartbeat jumped suddenly to 100 beats a minute, and then dropped back to a steady 58 to 60 beats.

After a study of telemetry data, however, the space monitors said Cooper's temperature had risen 20 degrees. He apparently awoke suddenly—causing the faster heartbeat—reset the temperature and went back to sleep.

Since Cooper had been launched on an inclination to the equator of 32.5 degrees and the earth kept moving under him, the capsule slipped more and more to the southeast from the Cape during the day.

He passed South Africa, Australia, India, Indo-China and mainland China.

On the 7th orbit Cooper had gone into drifting flight which meant the spacecraft was rotating aimlessly through the trajectory remained fixed by the ballistic impulse.

But it didn't make any difference to Cooper since he was weightless anyway and couldn't tell up from down.

As America's foremost space jockey, Cooper was so completely unawed by his experience that he took an unscheduled doze during a second orbit—which was understandable since he had been up since 2:50 a.m. Wednesday.

At one point early in the flight the Cape Canaveral capsule communicator astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., asked Cooper, "Great sport, isn't it?"

Cooper's answer was a succinct, "Yeah."

Schirra was the holder of the previous U.S. record of nine hours and 13 minutes, set Oct. 3, 1962.

The world record is held by a Soviet Andrian Nikolayev, who began a 94-hour, 34-minute flight across 1,612,000 miles on Aug. 11, 1962. Cooper will go 600,000 miles at most.

Whatever else Cooper does, record or not, he will prove for American space scientists the ability of a man to survive and work during prolonged space flight.

Over South Africa he tested the ability of an astronaut to sight three million-candlepower lights on the ground.

If he gives a favorable report such lights probably will be placed around the world to guide future astronauts back from trips to the moon.

This whole business started at 8:04 a.m. Wednesday when Cooper blasted off Launch Pad 14 here. He went into a true orbital attitude over Bermuda at 17,546 miles per hour.

Bermuda thus became the first low point on his flight—100.2 miles—while he reached a maximum altitude of 165.8 miles initially over Australia. The elapsed time from low point to low point was 88.45 minutes.

In the course of his flight Cooper became the first American astronaut to pass over Red China. He was to make six passes over mainland China.

The Chinese had no immediate comment.

President Kennedy watched the launch on a television set in his office.

In Japan, Europe, Africa and South Africa there were regular news reports on the progress of the flight. The Soviet's Tass news agency gave the flight only 62 words, but Radio Free Europe was beaming the report behind the iron curtain.

The attempt to beam live television to Europe, however, was a flop because of a mixup which sent meaningless pictures and sound across the Atlantic via the Relay I communications satellite. There was better reception later.

Mrs. Cooper—Trudy—and the Coopers' teen-age daughters, Camala and Janita—watched the launch on television at their Houston, Tex., home. They had talked to the astronaut earlier by telephone.

Mrs. Cooper was able to follow the flight on a special communications set which once was installed in Schirra's "Sigma 7" spacecraft. She could hear her husband's voice as he passed over Texas.

Cooper's mother, Hattie Cooper, commented in Tecumseh, Okla., after the launch: "I'm not exactly worried any more—just anxious for it to be over."

Cooper's grandmother, Orena Herd, rocked in her chair, sobbed softly and said, "I'm just thankful to the Good Lord that He gave him a good start."

Cooper was the first astronaut to report that he could see his booster engine following so close that he could see it still smoking. "Boy, oh boy is she ever close," said Cooper.

During his pre-rest period operations, Cooper became the first known astronaut to launch another satellite from a spaceship in orbit.

This was a flashing, xenon gas beacon—the kind used to warn motorists at roadsides—which was to be used by Cooper to determine how well he could measure distance in space.

He also carried out a number of radiation measurements, but his attempt to expel a tethered balloon to measure atmospheric drag in space was a failure. The balloon ejection equipment would not operate.

Cooper had 19 tracking stations around the world to which he

A total of 66 Kroger scholarships for freshman students in agriculture and home economics will again be offered at land-grant colleges in 23 states, for the 1963-1964 school year, it was announced today by Harold P. Templeton, vice president of the Columbus Division of The Kroger Co. which operates stores in this area.

Two new schools were added this year, Templeton said. They are the University of Minnesota and the University of Maryland.

The scholarships, which are for $250, are available at land-grant colleges in midwestern and southern states where there are Kroger stores and in California and Florida where Kroger fruit and vegetable buying offices are located.

In the Columbus Division area, a total of seven scholarships are offered at West Virginia State College, West Virginia University and Ohio State University.

Any graduate of an accredited high school is eligible. Application should be made directly to the college. Scholarship winners are selected by the scholarship committee at each college and the school will notify winners by mail.

Five Points MYF Elects New Officers

The Five Points Methodist Youth Fellowship elected officers for the coming year at its last regular meeting.

Barbara Tallman was named president; Jim Armentrout, vice president; Kathy Redman, secretary; and Dixie Neff, treasurer.

It was announced that Sunday's meeting has been cancelled due to Baccalaureate services in the church. The following Sunday will be a family night with a potluck supper beginning 6:30 p. m. A film titled "Teenage Loyalty" will be shown followed by a panel discussion. Members of the panel will be Jack Hilyer, Mrs. Dick Everman, Richard Redman, Jim Davis, Cindy Akison, Barbara Tallman and Joe Armentrout will be the moderator.

Advisers for the coming year will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul Houser, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Everman and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Armentrout.

could—and did—talk. It wasn't all business. Over Guaymas, Mexico, for example, the ground communicator was astronaut Virgil I. Grissom. Said Grissom: "Everything looks good down here and we are giving you a go for seven more."

Deadpan, Cooper asked, "Thirty how many?" Grissom: "As many as you want." Then everybody broke up with laughter.

Russian Movie Chiefs Given Look at Hollywood Customs

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Leave it to Otto Preminger to enliven the social scene with a swinging capitalist affair for a couple of Communists.

The producer tossed an elegant party for Hollywood's smart set on the roof of the Beverly Hilton. The guests of honor: Ivan Piriev, president of the Soviet filmmakers association, and Lev Jolidjanov, a prominent Russian director.

As an incidental matter, the party also saluted the end of filming on Preminger's latest movie, "The Cardinal," which was spelled out in carved ice that adorned the hors d'oeuvre table.

The Russians should have much to tell their fellow workers when they get back to Moscow. The meal was elegant, from the Tradition's Polynesian appetizers with cocktails to the dessert of giant strawberries, served with side dishes of sour cream and brown sugar.

The Russians seemed intrigued by the tribal customs of the Hollywood natives. They had been inited here as part of a Preminger people-to-people program; he had responded after having been the guest of Soviet film makers in Moscow.

Piriev, who occupies the curious position as producer and worker in the Soviet industry, commented through an interpreter that he found Hollywood film making much like that in his country—a bit bigger crews, perhaps.

He added that he and his comrades had seen and been impressed by "Judgment at Nuremberg," "Lawrence of Arabia" and "How the West Was Won" during their visit here. He liked the Cinema technique in the latter and added predictably that the Soviet Union has its own Cinema process.

American hits in the Soviet Union? He mentioned "Roman Holiday," "Lili," "Marty" and to a lesser extent "War and Peace," an American-Italian production. He said that the Russians are going ahead with their own, definitive "War and Peace," which will run four hours.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

INTRUDER: A man raced past uniformed guards at the front gate of the White House Wednesday and ran 15 to 20 yards inside the grounds before he was overtaken.

He was grabbed in an arm lock, deposited in a patrol wagon and whisked away before news-men reached the scene—and ran into a stone wall of silence set up by White House officials.

The account of the intrusion was supplied by a number of bystanders. According to one report he carried a pair of scissors. Asked about this, a White House police officer said: "Whatever he had was taken away."

The northwest gate to the White House grounds on Pennsylvania avenue was open because a group of congressional wives was leaving the executive mansion after a luncheon.

Washington police identified the intruder as Edgar L. Clayborn, 34, of no fixed address. He was taken to District General Hospital for mental observation.

VA HOUSING: The Veterans Administration reports veterans housing activities increased in three of four categories during April.

VA housing starts climbed from 4,924 in March to 7,241 in April. Appraisal requests for existing units rose from 14,785 on March 5 to 16,693, and applications for home loan guaranty climbed from 15,069 to 16,996.

Appraisal of new units declined from 13,254 in March to 12,161 in April.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission authorized the Lawrence County Water Company Wednesday to increase water rates 12 per cent for consumers in the village of Chesapeake and 30 per cent for consumers outside the village.

The company had requested a rate increase of about 42 per cent. Commission members said the rate increase would give the company a 5.3 per cent rate of return.

Early in the flight, and while Cooper, 36, chatted his way from sunset to sunset as if he did this sort of thing every day, the earth-bound technicians and scientists were jubilant.

After describing the operation as a "textbook flight" "perfect" and "beautiful," they described themselves as "overjoyed"—and then ran out of adjectives.

As for Cooper, he dined—sort of—around 5 p.m., some nine hours after he blasted aloft with a rumble and a flash from Cape Canaveral atop a 360,000-pound thrust Atlas rocket.

During the 9th orbit—about 8:45 p.m.—the 147-pound Cooper reported he was knocking off work for a while.

With this word, the ground communications stations hung a verbal "do not disturb" sign on the "Faith 7."

Two Pickaway County GC Members Discuss Plants

Two plant experts addressed the Pickaway County Garden Club at a meeting held in the 4-H and Grange Building on the Fairgrounds Tuesday evening.

They were Mrs. James Moffitt, who spoke on "Iris" and Mrs. Oscar Root who talked about "Chrysanthemums". Both speakers are members of the club.

Mrs. Moffitt showed specimens of several iris. She demonstrated the planting of iris rhizomes. She grouped iris species into dwarfs, miniatures, which are good for edgings, bulbous (Dutch, Spanish, English) and the Japanese Bearded iris were the most commonly grown she said.

Mrs. Moffitt displayed a living iris borer. She showed how foliage was affected when this pest was present. Sooner or later all iris plantings will be affected with this caterpillar which grows as it feeds. She explained the life cycle of the borer and gave instructions for a spray which will rid the garden of this pinkish caterpillar with the brown head.

Mrs. Root, who is a nationally accredited chrysanthemum judge talked about propagation of mums. They are easily propagated both by division and rooting cuttings.

The speaker said July 5 is the date to stop pinching the tops. She explained that disbudding gave quality flowers. She advocated mulching plants and giving them plenty of water.

Mrs. Root had specimens to show when she explained the difference between a crown spray and a terminal spray. She invited her listeners to participate in the annual Chrysanthemum Show Oct. 9-20 at Whetstone Park, Columbus.

Mrs. Theodore Huston, president, was in charge of the business session which preceded the program. When Mrs. Edwin Richardson, secretary, called the roll members answered with "Something I'd like to buy for my garden".

Mrs. George Lawson reported that she had given a series of programs to Mrs. Charles Thompson's Girl Scout Troop. She taught the girls to root cuttings at one lesson. At another, they planted seeds. An arrangement workshop with the leader serving as instructor was planned for the third lesson.

Mrs. Guy Campbell, civic chairman, reported on the planting at the courthouse which the committee planned. She also said that the evergreens which the club gave had been transplanted when the Circleville Chamber of Commerce sign was moved to higher ground.

Mrs. S. G. Measamer, flower show co-chairman, distributed worksheets and show schedules for the annual Pickaway Garden Club flower show. It will be held at the 4-H and Grange Building on June 5. All classes will be open to the public for display.

Mrs. Moffitt, workshop chairman, announced that the workshop will be held 8 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Karl Seyfarth, Wood Lane. There will be a plant exchange. Members are asked to bring their own folding chairs. Mrs. Measamer will instruct the group on table arrangements.

An invitation was read to the recital of Lynn Reicheldorfer and Judy Burkhardt which will be held 8 p. m. May 20 at the Presbyterian Church.

Pickaway County Garden Club has also received an invitation to the annual Rose Breakfast given by the Solana Garden Club. The breakfast will be held May 7 at the Prairie Lanes Dessert Room. Breakfast will be served between 8:30 a. m. and 11 a. m. There will be a flower show in connection with the event as usual.

Hostesses included: Mrs. Luther Bower, chairman, Mrs. L. E. Foreman, Mrs. Seyfarth, Mrs. Paul Cromley, Mrs. Collis Young, Mrs. Harry Stoker and Miss Mary Heffner.

The tea table was covered with a pale pink cloth. The center arrangement of pink snapdragons and shasta daisies was flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra. Mrs. Huston presided at the tea and coffee service.

Visitors were Mrs. Richard Hedges, Mrs. Carlton Robb and Mrs. Alden Bray.

Mrs. Bray and Mrs. Robb are planning to become members of the group.

OES Members Honor Mothers During Meet

Circleville Chapter No. 90, order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday evening in the Masonic Temple. Initiatory work was performed by the officers.

Distinguished guests present were: Miss Marie L. Hamilton, past grand matron of the grand chapter of Ohio; Mrs. Gladys Shepler, grand representative of Nevada in Ohio and William Ammer commander of Scioto Commandry No. 35.

Ralph Cloud, worthy patron, gave a reading on "Mothers" and each mother was presented with a potted plant.

The business meeting was in charge of the worthy matron, Mrs. Garnet Felkey. The following correspondence was read: an invitation to attend Friendship Night at Forest Chapter, Bloomingburg 8 p. m. June 3; inspection of Jefferson Chapter No. 300 8 p. m. May 21; inspection at St. Clairsville Chapter No. 510 on June 8; inspection at Danbury Chapter No. 230, Ripley High School June 4. An invitation was received to attend a reception honoring Catharine Baird, deputy grand matron of District 23, on June 7 in the Masonic Temple, Jeffersonville.

Reports were presented. Leslie Hines was appointed to meet with the Temple Board regarding renovation of the chapter rooms. Inspection will be held 8 p. m. Friday in the chapter rooms with Mrs. Marguerite Hale, worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Ohio, as inspecting officer. A dinner will be held preceding the inspection at the Methodist Church.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pauline K. Arnold and committee. The next meeting will be held May 28 in the chapter rooms.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The housewife who serves chicken this weekend can serve a main course that costs only about 20 cents a person.

However, beef is an attractive alternative. Chickens are now at or near their lowest prices of the year, reflecting a 4 per cent rise in production.

Prices are running about the same as last year's seasonal low level of about 39 cents a pound, though surveys show that buyers who snatch up bargain attractions can save as much as 30 per cent.

Beef is another attraction for bargain hunters. One national chain is running a special of 55 cents a pound on rib roasts this weekend in its New York outlets.

Beef cuts also were lower in most other parts of the country, including the Far West, while pork prices generally were rising. Cottage cheese and several other cheeses are down in price in many markets. Egg and milk prices have slipped a cent or two a quart in some areas.

Vegetable bargains include celery, sweet corn and onions. Fruit prospects are less cheering with citrus supply running from 26 per cent smaller for oranges to 31 per cent smaller for lemons. That's the winter freeze, still making itself felt.

New Officers Are Installed

Mrs. Beth Heckner, Columbus president of District 7 of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, installed new officers at a recent meeting of The Saltcreek Town and Country Club.

The following family members were present: Mrs. Leota Thimmes and family and Billy Thimmes of Circleville; Mrs. Myrtle Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thurston and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ricketts and family all of Adelphi; Mrs. Lewis Hardesty and family of Laurelville; Mrs. Dollie Graves and daughter and Miss Virginia Thimmes, all of Chillicothe.

Kingston Civic Club Elects New Officers

New officers were named when the Kingston Civic Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Nick Kelley with Mrs. Kenneth Timmons as co-hostess.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Fred Likens, president; Mrs. John Thomas, vice president; Mrs. James Green, recording secretary; Mrs. Tom Congrove, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edward Flugge, treasurer.

Mrs. Likens introduced the speaker, Dan Crabtree, a representative of the General Electric Plant, who used the topic, "Automation."

Mrs. Jack Reisinger presented a brief devotional service. Mrs. Robert Rounsley, scholarship fund chairman, reported on the recent house-to-house canvass conducted by the club. Members voted to donate $100 to the Kingston Community Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Dwight Davis and Mrs. Congrove were appointed co-chairmen of the committee for the 10th Anniversary Tea, September 24 was selected as a tentative date.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Not a Fish Story!

DEAR ABBY: Another man and I went on a week-end fishing trip. When we came into my home, he met my wife for the first time. When he looked at her, his eyes grew wider, then he turned to me and said, "You must be nuts to leave a beautiful thing like that alone for the week-end." Do you think I was?

LIKES TO FISH

DEAR LIKES: I don't know about THAT weekend, but the next time you go fishing be sure to take the same man with you.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think that diabetes runs in a family? Our son is getting married to a girl who has diabetes. There are two in our own family who have it, although my son doesn't. They would like to have four children. The girl says there is a good chance the children would be born with diabetes, but that is the chance my son must take as he has been told of her condition. What is your advice?

YOUNG MAN'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Your son and his future wife should sit down with a physician and discuss the matter thoroughly with him. Diabetes most certainly does "run" in the family. And when it exists in BOTH families, it is doubly dangerous.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just had a heated argument. He came home one evening last week and told me a large company (one

Technical Schools Increase in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What's all this about technical schools? Essentially, their job is to prepare technicians, specialists to fill the increasing number of manpower vacancies between the area of the skilled craftsman and responsibilities calling for a graduate professional.

Ten are operating now in co-operation with public schools under standards established by the State Board of Education. The 11th opens Sept. 3 in Columbus.

That's still less than half the number Ohio probably needs. "One study, I think, indicated we probably could use 25 to 27 technical schools," says Harry F. Davis of Mansfield, an assistant supervisor of trade and industrial Department.

Because the program is relatively new, and because training frequently is conducted in high school buildings, Davis says it sometimes is confused with undergraduate high school courses, or with trade school. And some parents seem to think it's a little less respectable than four years of college.

"The principal difference," suggests an editorial in a quarterly lake (Candler) technical school "is that it is shorter than the normal four-year college program."

"It is a two-year concentration on technical know-how and know-why, designed to make the graduate highly employable as the middle man between the engineer and the man on the machine."

Presently, 713 students are enrolled in electrical, mechanical, chemical, data processing and industrial technology courses at the schools in Barberton, Lorain, Cleveland, Salem, Mansfield, Canton, Willoughby-Eastlake, Ashtabula, Springfield and Hamilton.

Davis believes enrollment will more than double in the 1963-64 school year. Noting that courses in agriculture-business are being introduced at Springfield, he foresees eventual expansion of training to include technology in health law enforcement and many other fields.

After some tricky floor maneuvering, the 1961 legislature set up a procedure for technical institutes supported entirely with local funds. But none have been established under this authorization.

A bill under consideration in this session would permit them to be called "institutes" and allow boards of education to set them up and appoint three of five trustees. The governor would appoint the other two.

Because semi-professional training in technical schools benefits defense production, the federal government makes money available on a 50-50 matching basis under the National Defense Education Act.

That's how the state-supervised technical school program in Ohio (there are at least five private technical schools) got started in 1959.

For the current year, Washington made $664,757 available, and $200,000 was appropriated by Ohio's General Assembly. Local funds—when available—and tuition meets the rest of the cost. Average tuition is $278 per student.

Gypsy Yul Brynner Gives Tips For Yanks Traveling Abroad

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In an era when actors have reverted to their gypsy origins, Yul Brynner may be the traveling star.

Not even the ubiquitous Bob Hope has clocked as many air miles as has the smooth-topped Brynner. He makes movies from Japan and Rome—"Flight from Ashiya"—to Mexico—"Kings of the Sun," which he just completed—and occasionally Hollywood.

He also makes lengthy journeys on behalf of the United Nations, for which he has worked in its refugee program—he carries a U.N. passport. Besides all this he just travels. When he would get five days off "Ashiya" in Japan, he'd fly to his Switzerland home to visit his wife, who was expecting a baby.

For the multitude of Americans who will be visiting foreign lands this summer, Brynner is worth listening to.

"The most important thing," he began, "is to remember that when you pay your $2,000 or whatever to the travel agent for your fare and accommodations, it does not buy you a piece of the countries you visit. Those countries don't owe you anything. You owe them something: your good behavior as a guest in their homeland."

Other tips: "Most American tourists take too much and bring home too much. There's no need to take a different wardrobe for every possible occasion. Just a few outfits will do."

"People still think they have to go to Europe laden with boxes of Kleenex and other necessities. Kleenex is just as widespread as Coca Cola abroad. So is aspirin, and almost anything else you would need."

"As for taking a lot of washable clothes, it isn't necessary. In most hotels you can send out your laundry in the morning and get it back in the evening, beautifully done."

"Tourists shouldn't be too concerned with what I call the mechanical aspects of traveling—problems of customs, or bathroom facilities, of the water. They should view each country as a new experience. What does it have to offer?"

"The only way to know a country is to know its people. How do you do that? The best way is to learn 10 words of their language—no more are necessary. When they hear you extending the courtesy of using their language, they respond immediately. They know you are interested in them not as 'natives' but as human beings."

Gen. Pershing Messenger Dies at 66

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Leon G. Roth, who unknowingly carried to Gen. John J. Pershing the news that World War I was over, died unexpectedly at his home here Tuesday.

Roth, who received the Distinguished Service Cross and France's Croix De Guerre as a result of his Nov. 11, 1918, mission, was 66.

According to his account of the famous errand, he was given orders to pick up an important message at Souilly, France, and deliver it to Gen. Pershing's headquarters some 25 miles away.

He said that although he was told the message was important, he thought little about it because he had been told that many times before. Roth was a motorcycle messenger for 1st Army Headquarters at Souilly.

His journey was over difficult terrain and through shell bursts. At one point, he was knocked from his vehicle by a close hit.

Roth said he was waiting at Gen. Pershing's headquarters to see if there would be a reply when an orderly rushed out and said:

"You've brought us the best news we've heard. The war is over."

Red German Journalists Are Arrested in West

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The West German government has arrested 11 East German journalists, including four who worked in West Berlin.

The Bonn government permits East Germans to live in West Berlin but does not recognize their Communist regime.

Officials said the arrests and raids on East German news and radio offices in major West German cities were made under a law banning the collection and dissemination of information detrimental to the estate.

The annual First English Lutheran Church Mother and Daughter Banquet was held May 8 in the church social rooms.

The dinner was prepared by several women of the church with Mrs. Harvey Roby Jr., serving as chairman. Several husbands of the women served the dinner to 98 guests and members.

Mrs. Kent Wayer gave the Mother's Welcome followed by her daughter, Joy, giving the Daughter's Response. Music on the organ by Miss Susie Dum was enjoyed during the dinner hour.

The program opened with a vocal solo by Miss Teri Hoffines, accompanied by Mrs. David Dill. Miss Karen Duvall, Miss Susan Hoffines and Miss Mary Jo Gaskalla entertained with an instrumental trio.

Honored as the oldest mother was Mrs. Hattie Rife and as the newest mother, Mrs. Kenneth Harden.

Ending the program was a story and song playlet entitled, "Mother's Men". Serving as narrator was Mrs. Harold Bowers and cast members were Mrs. Max Marion, Mrs. Quenam Tosca, Mrs. William Morrison, Mrs. Roger Hedges, Mrs. George Hoffines, Mrs. Kent Zwyer, and Miss Rebecca Dum.

The Junior MYF of the Ashville Methodist Church will hold a Bake Sale this Saturday at 9 a. m. at Hoover's Restaurant.

Mary Jo Guthel, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guthel, Route 1, Lockbourne, who was seriously burned May 1 at her home must undergo a series of skin grafts. In doing so the youngster will need 11 to 20 pints of blood.

An urgent request is made for blood donations from the community to help replace the blood that will have to be used to save this little girl's life.

Persons able to donate may do so at the Red Cross Blood Center, 812 E. Broad Street, Columbus. The hours at the Blood Center are Monday from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. and Friday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. The bloodmobile will be in Circleville Friday, June 7. Donations may be made at this time, also in the child's name.

The child is confined in Children's Hospital, Columbus.

The Ashville Neighborhood Girl Scout Assn. is planning a day camp in the Ashville Park for the Girl Scouts and Brownies. It will be August 12-16 from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. each day. The fee is $3 per girl and is to be sent to the office in Columbus with the application blank found on the back of the camp folder which the Scouters previously received. The girls are asked to bring a sack lunch each day. If the scout is undecided at this time about attending camp she may be registered the first day of camp.

As in any activity where girls are involved adult supervision and help is needed. Therefore they are having a day camp leader training course May 21 and May 23 from 9:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. and is to be held in the park with each one bringing a sack lunch both days. Persons interested in attending the training please notify one of the persons listed as soon as possible. If you are interested in one particular craft such as basket weaving, leatherwork, and ceramics, please feel free to help if for only an hour or two each day of camp.

Persons to notify are: Mrs. James Hafey, YU 3-4721; Mrs. Nolo Gulick, YU 3-4432; or Mrs. John Sabine, YU 3-5731.

The Ashville Methodist Junior MYF will hold a weiner roast Sunday evening beginning 5:30 p. m. at the home of the leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Pobst, Route 2, Ashville. Members are allowed to bring a guest and each one must furnish his own weiners and buns.

The Ashville Girl Scout Troop 674 and leader, Mrs. Don Younklin, met Wednesday evening at the Ashville Park. The girls had a weiner roast and then worked on their Mother's Day gifts. Following the meeting, the girls played baseball.

Scouter's attending were Benedita McGlone, Connie Kirk, Judy Guthel, Marjorie Custer, Janice Pettibone, Claudia Lough, Sue Logan, Linda Hickman, Pauline Worthington, Donna Berry and Stephanie Wilson. Mothers attending were Mrs. Don Berry, Mrs. George McGlone, Mrs. Cleve Hickman and Mrs. Jeanne Wilson.

The sophomore class of Teays Valley High School is sponsoring a record hop this Saturday evening in the school cafeteria with Jerry Rasor as disk jockey. The hop will be open to high school students and their dates only.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Pobst of Route 2, Ashville, and Leland Calton of Commercial Point, attended the yearly meeting of the Central District of the Ohio P.T.A. at Franklin Heights School on Monday evening.

The Scioto Township School's P.T.A. was recognized as one of the 12 new units formed during the year.

All boys in the Teays Valley Baseball League are asked to report at 9 a. m. this Saturday at the Ashville Community Park for the purpose of selling candy.

The Teays Valley High School Band Boosters are making an effort to pay off the balance of the newly purchased band uniforms, interest free and without borrowing additional funds.

Mrs. Don Flierl, treasurer and secretary of the Booster Club, made the following financial report: the original bill totaled $3,603.19 and the first two weeks they raised $1,849.01, giving a balance due of $3,754.18 to be paid in ninety days after the complete order has been filled. The Boosters worked during the winter months and in April sent a check totaling $2,700 to be applied to the uniforms which now gives them a balance of approximately $1,050, which is due July 15. Approximately $150 was made from the free-will offering taken at the Sunday afternoon concert.

William Snyder, fund raising drive chairman, would appreciate any donations to help defray the balance of the bill. They may be made or given to Mrs. Flierl.

Several educational field trips have been made recently by the Teays Valley High School classes. On April 18 the Business Club, accompanied by Mrs. Phyllis Boggs, took a tour through the Ashville Bank. On April 16 Mrs. Dorothy Beavers took her sociology class to visit the Orient State Hospital. The science students visited the DuPont plant near Circleville on April 26.

The sociology and business law classes visited the Pickaway County Court House all day Monday studying the various departments. Accompanying the group were Mrs. Beavers and Mrs. Boggs.

On Tuesday of this week the junior and senior class members of the Industrial Arts Department and their teachers, Mr. Kyle and Mr. Adkins, visited industrial plants in Columbus.

On Wednesday the health class and their teacher, Russ Gregg, visited the Ohio State University Medical Center in Columbus.

Orientation Week is being held at Teays Valley High School next week with Walnut Township School 8th graders being guests of the school on Monday, Ashville 8th graders on Tuesday, and Scioto Township 8th graders on Wednesday.

The Ashville Girl Scout Neighborhood Assn. will meet Monday evening in the Ashville Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m.

Lowell Cooper was taken to Riverside - Methodist Hospital Saturday suffering from an infection.

The Ashville - Harrison Volunteer Fire Department will hold a money raising auction this Saturday at 1 p. m. at the firehouse. Many items have been donated including items from many local merchants. Persons having items to donate may let do so by calling any of the local firemen who will pick them up.

The Student Council of Teays Valley High School will sponsor an Honor Banquet this Friday evening beginning at 6:30 p. m. The purpose of the banquet is to give special recognition to those students who have made the honor roll for five of the six week grading periods. These students, approximately 100, will be given special scholarship medals.

The public is invited to attend the banquet which will be held in the school cafeteria. It will be a carry-in dinner and each one is asked to bring his own table service.

Other school organizations will also present awards at this time.

The Ashville Methodist Fellowship Class will meet Sunday evening at the church at 7:30 p. m. Hostesses are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vause, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh, and Mrs. Robert Glick.

Nearly five hundred people gathered at the Teays Valley High School auditorium Sunday for the Music Department's Mother's Day Concert.

Girls' Glee Club opened the program with three numbers, after which the Concert Band presented four selections.

The program continued with six selections by the 65 member mixed chorus. Concert band concluded the program with four numbers.

Susi Hoffines and Lynn Noecker, who plan to enter the School of Music at Ohio State University this fall, were featured soloists. Duane Sheets, band president, presented Miss Gaskalla, director, with a gift on behalf of the Concert Band.

The Century Recording Company has made a record of the concert. Records can be obtained from any band member.

Miss Carolyn Colson of Geneva, Illinois, and Miss Kathy Stout, students at Capital University, Columbus, were weekend guests of Miss Stout's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stout of Ashville.

Technical Schools Increase in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What's all this about technical schools? Essentially, their job is to prepare technicians, specialists to fill the increasing number of manpower vacancies between the area of the skilled craftsman and responsibilities calling for a graduate professional.

Ten are operating now in co-operation with public schools under standards established by the State Board of Education. The 11th opens Sept. 3 in Columbus.

That's still less than half the number Ohio probably needs. "One study, I think, indicated we probably could use 25 to 27 technical schools," says Harry F. Davis of Mansfield, an assistant supervisor of trade and industrial Department.

Because the program is relatively new, and because training frequently is conducted in high school buildings, Davis says it sometimes is confused with undergraduate high school courses, or with trade school. And some parents seem to think it's a little less respectable than four years of college.

"The principal difference," suggests an editorial in a quarterly lake (Crandler) technical school "is that it is shorter than the normal four-year college program."

"It is a two-year concentration on technical know-how and know-why, designed to make the graduate highly employable as the middle man between the engineer and the man on the machine."

Presently, 713 students are enrolled in electrical, mechanical, chemical, data processing and industrial technology courses at the schools in Barberton, Lorain, Cleveland, Salem, Mansfield, Canton, Willoughby-Eastlake, Ashtabula, Springfield and Hamilton.

Davis believes enrollment will more than double in the 1963-64 school year. Noting that courses in agriculture-business are being introduced at Springfield, he foresees eventual expansion of training to include technology in health law enforcement and many other fields.

After some tricky floor maneuvering, the 1961 legislature set up a procedure for technical institutes supported entirely with local funds. But none have been established under this authorization.

A bill under consideration in this session would permit them to be called "institutes" and allow boards of education to set them up and appoint three of five trustees. The governor would appoint the other two.

Because semi-professional training in technical schools benefits defense production, the federal government makes money available on a 50-50 matching basis under the National Defense Education Act.

That's how the state-supervised technical school program in Ohio (there are at least five private technical schools) got started in 1959.

For the current year, Washington made $664,757 available, and $200,000 was appropriated by Ohio's General Assembly. Local funds—when available—and tuition meets the rest of the cost. Average tuition is $278 per student.

Gen. Pershing Messenger Dies at 66

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Leon G. Roth, who unknowingly carried to Gen. John J. Pershing the news that World War I was over, died unexpectedly at his home here Tuesday.

Roth, who received the Distinguished Service Cross and France's Croix De Guerre as a result of his Nov. 11, 1918, mission, was 66.

According to his account of the famous errand, he was given orders to pick up an important message at Souilly, France, and deliver it to Gen. Pershing's headquarters some 25 miles away.

He said that although he was told the message was important, he thought little about it because he had been told that many times before. Roth was a motorcycle messenger for 1st Army Headquarters at Souilly.

His journey was over difficult terrain and through shell bursts. At one point, he was knocked from his vehicle by a close hit.

Roth said he was waiting at Gen. Pershing's headquarters to see if there would be a reply when an orderly rushed out and said:

"You've brought us the best news we've heard. The war is over."

Red German Journalists Are Arrested in West

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The West German government has arrested 11 East German journalists, including four who worked in West Berlin.

The Bonn government permits East Germans to live in West Berlin but does not recognize their Communist regime.

Officials said the arrests and raids on East German news and radio offices in major West German cities were made under a law banning the collection and dissemination of information detrimental to the estate.

The annual First English Lutheran Church Mother and Daughter Banquet was held May 8 in the church social rooms.

The dinner was prepared by several women of the church with Mrs. Harvey Roby Jr., serving as chairman. Several husbands of the women served the dinner to 98 guests and members.

Mrs. Kent Weyer gave the Mother's Welcome followed by her daughter, Joy, giving the Daughter's Response. Music on the organ by Miss Susie Dum was enjoyed during the dinner hour.

The program opened with a vocal solo by Miss Teri Hoffines, accompanied by Mrs. David Dill. Miss Karen Duvall, Miss Susan Hoffines and Miss Mary Jo Gaskalla entertained with an instrumental trio.

Honored as the oldest mother was Mrs. Hattie Rife and as the newest mother, Mrs. Kenneth Harden.

Ending the program was a story and song playlet entitled, "Mother's and Men". Serving as narrator was Mrs. Harold Bowers and cast members were Mrs. Max Marion, Mrs. Quenam Tosca, Mrs. William Morrison, Mrs. Roger Hedges, Mrs. George Hoffines, Mrs. Kent Zwayer, and Miss Rebecca Dum.

The Junior MYF of the Ashville Methodist Church will hold a Bake Sale this Saturday at 9 a. m. at Hoover's Restaurant.

Mary Jo Gutheil, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gutheil, Route 1, Lockbourne, who was seriously burned May 1 at her home must undergo a series of skin grafts. In doing so the youngster will need 11 to 20 pints of blood.

An urgent request is made for blood donations from the community to help replace the blood that will have to be used to save this little girl's life.

Persons able to donate may do so at the Red Cross Blood Center, 812 E. Broad Street, Columbus. The hours at the Blood Center are Monday and Friday from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. and Friday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. The bloodmobile will be in Circleville Friday, June 7. Donations may be made at this time, also in the child's name.

The child is confined in Children's Hospital, Columbus.

The Ashville Neighborhood Girl Scout Assn. is planning a day camp in the Ashville Park for the Girl Scouts and Brownies. It will be August 12-16 from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. each day. The fee is $3 per girl and is to be sent to the office in Columbus with the application blank found on the back of the camp folder which the Scouters previously received. The girls are asked to bring a sack lunch each day. If the scouters is undecided at this time about attending camp she may be registered the first day of camp.

As in any activity where girls are involved adult supervision and help is needed. Therefore they are having a day camp leader training course May 21 and May 23 from 9:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. and is to be held in the park with each one bringing a sack lunch both days. Persons interested in attending the training please notify one of the persons listed as soon as possible. If you are interested in one particular craft such as basket weaving, leatherwork, and ceramics, please feel free to help it for only an hour or two each day of camp.

Persons to notify are: Mrs. James Hafey, YU 3-4721; Mrs. Nola Gulick, YU 3-4432; or Mrs. John Sabine, YU 3-5731.

The Ashville Methodist Junior MYF will hold a weiner roast Sunday evening beginning 5:30 p. m. at the home of the leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Pobst, Route 2, Ashville. Members are allowed to bring a guest and each one must furnish his own weiners and buns.

The Ashville Girl Scout Troop 674 and leader, Mrs. Don Younklin, met Wednesday evening at the Ashville Park. The girls had a weiner roast and then worked on their Mother's Day gifts. Following the meeting, the girls played baseball.

Gypsy Yul Brynner Gives Tips For Yanks Traveling Abroad

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In an era when actors have reverted to their gypsy origins, Yul Brynner may be the travelingest star.

Not even the ubiquitous Bob Hope has clocked as many air miles as has the smooth-topped Brynner. He makes movies from Japan and Rome—"Flight from Ashiya"—to Mexico—"Kings of the Sun," which he just completed—and occasionally Hollywood.

He also makes lengthy journeys on behalf of the United Nations, for which he has worked in its refugee program—he carries a U.N. passport. Besides all this he just travels. When he would get five days off "Ashiya" in Japan, he'd fly to his Switzerland home to visit his wife, who was expecting a baby.

For the multitude of Americans who will be visiting foreign lands this summer, Brynner is worth listening to.

"The most important thing," he began, "is to remember that when you pay your $2,000 or whatever to the travel agent for your fare and accommodations, it does not buy you a piece of the countries you visit. Those countries don't owe you anything. You owe them something: your good behavior as a guest in their homeland."

Other tips: "Most American tourists take too much and bring home too much. There's no need to take a different wardrobe for every possible occasion. Just a few outfits will do."

"People still think they have to go to Europe laden with boxes of Kleenex and other necessities. Kleenex is just as widespread as Coca Cola abroad. So is aspirin, and almost anything else you would need."

"As for taking a lot of washable clothes, it isn't necessary. In most hotels you can send out your laundry in the morning and get it back in the evening, beautifully done."

"Tourists shouldn't be too concerned with what I call the mechanical aspects of traveling—problems of customs, or bathroom facilities, of the water. They should view each country as a new experience. What does it have to offer?"

"The only way to know a country is to know its people. How do you do that? The best way is to learn 10 words of their language—no more are necessary. When they hear you extending the courtesy of using their language, they respond immediately. They know you are interested in them not as 'natives' but as human beings."

Ohio Utilities 'Hot Wires' Bill Hits Snag

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The utilities' "hot wires" bill may be slightly short-circuited in the Ohio House, it was indicated today.

The action may not come for a week or two in the House Elections - Federal Relations Committee.

But, it was learned, the bill to allow the Ohio Public Utilities Commission (PUCO) to override local zoning regulations won't be in the same form as it was passed by the Senate a month ago.

The House Committee opened hearing Tuesday night on the Senate-approved bill with proponents expounding the merits of the measure on the grounds it will help industrial expansion in Ohio.

Indications are that the committee might wind up hearings on the bill next week, maybe the week following, after a couple of hearings for opponents.

It is possible the measure could be sent to a subcommittee for study. However, because of the pressure behind the bill, it is unlikely that it will remain there long.

State Liquor Receipts Climb from Year Ago

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If liquor receipts are any indication, Ohioans are drinking more now than they were at this time last year.

William S. MacKenzie, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, said in a report that wholesale and retail store sales in the state monopoly totaled $65,205,000 for this year to date compared with $64,699,000 for the same period in 1962.

Operating Orchard Keeps Fee Brothers Plenty Busy

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES

The Fee orchard is located on the County Line road which separates Pickaway and Fairfield Counties.

The orchard is a pretty sight at blossom time — just rows and rows of pink and white trees against a sky of blue with lots of bees buzzing around and a pleasant fragrance. One might think the life of an orchardist was all apple blossoms and romance.

"Not so," said the Fee brothers. "Operating an orchard keeps a person on the jump all the time." Walter Fee and his brother, Fred, both of whom incidentally, are bachelors, claim there's lots more to orcharding than just admiring the apple blossoms. It's a year-round battle with weather, insects and disease.

And according to these energetic orchardists there's a lot of hard work over and above the eight-hour work day.

WHEN WE visited the orchard the place was jumpin'. Fred Fee was mounted on a mobile hydraulically-controlled tower pruning the trees. The Fees were late with this operation. They planned to finish during the forenoon and start spraying in the afternoon.

The pruning tower could be elevated or lowered at will and the machine can circle a tree and maneuver through the orchard with great ease. The power pruners work on the principle of compressed air.

While Fred Fee pruned his brother explained the reason for pruning which is quality fruit. "More sunlight and more air reach the apples. It's easier to spray," he said.

At harvest time the Fees depend on a good many people from the area to help with the work. At pruning time only one man, a neighbor, helped. He wielded a bolo knife slashing the lighter branches from the heavy limbs felled by Fred Fee's pruning operations.

The lighter wood was left in the orchard rows. Later a rotary cutter would be driven through, making a coarse mulch of the branches.

Ordinarily the Fees are as occupied with peaches as they are with their apple trees. Not this year! Jack Frost winter-killed all 2,000 peach trees.

THE BROTHERS smiled and shrugged when we tried to commiserate with them over this tragic loss. They were forewarned by the extension service what to expect when the weather was around 20 degrees below zero.

Orchardists from their youth, the Fees know the hazards of the business. Their father purchased the tract of land when there were only 65 trees. Now the orchards encompass more than 40 acres.

There is a storage barn with a 4,000 bushel capacity, up-to-date orcharding equipment and two ponds, one for irrigating the peaches.

The big spray tank has a 500-gallon capacity. We watched the CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Rita Flask gave it a good try but after trudging four miles with a pudgy mail sack she gave up, leaving the post office at suburban Bedford with only one lady mail carrier.

Ruth Hanck, on the other hand, says she isn't giving up.

"I'll get used to it," said Miss Hanck after making the round on her half route Tuesday. A full route is eight miles, and a full load weighs 40 pounds.

Frank Driscoll, Bedford postmaster, said it had been ruled that sex could not be specified in Civil Service appointments, and the names of the two women had reached the top of the hiring list.

PRUNING TIME AT FEE ORCHARD — Walter Fee (left) poses with his brother, Fred, on the mobile pruning machine. The Fees were late with pruning operations this year. They pruned and sprayed on the same day. But that's the life of an orchardist when weather interferes.

LOST ORCHARD — So you think you've got troubles because your roses were winter-killed. Consider the Fee brothers as they survey this dismal scene, an entire peach orchard that did not make it through the winter. No peaches for sale at the Fee orchard this summer. But just wait. The Fees are replanting.

Fee brothers spray the orchards after they finished pruning. From now on they will spray every 10 days. The extension service advises them on spray dates.

The brothers took time off from spraying to show me the peach orchard. Almost all the trees were dead. A few showed signs of life, with a branch or two that had leaved out.

Walter Fee said they planned to replant the peach orchard. They have had only two crop failures in all the years they have been growing peaches. So they are not giving up.

LATER, all the peach trees will be cut off at ground level and young stock set out. The dead trees will not have to be uprooted. This method is also used in the apple orchards when replacements are necessary.

When we asked about the ribbons which they won at fairs they smiled. They had them displayed in the storage house packing room.

Fred Fee explained that they were most proud of the ribbons they won during the first 10 years they exhibited. Now ribbons seem to come easier.

Garden Gossip

Even if Mrs. Shelby Teegardin did not go to the spring luncheon of the Columbus Council, Garden Club of Ohio, Inc., she had some flowers there.

Vangle Campbell was asked to take an arrangement. So Edith Teegardin told Mrs. Campbell to pick something from her garden and incorporate it in her arrangement. Since Mrs. Campbell's arrangement was made of lilacs and tulips, the striped purple and white tulips from the Teegardin garden added considerably to the arrangement's beauty.

Dr. Joe Goeller believes that parrot tulips increase in size and beauty each year they are left in the garden. I hope he's correct.

Mrs. Turney Pontius believes the same is true of double tulips. Hers grow in beauty and size each year, she says. I hope she is correct.

Most tulips diminish in size the second year and many have disappeared by the fifth year. Why else would the country of Holland insist that tulip bulbs be destroyed after the first year when they send bulbs as gifts to places like Kingwood Center.

Mrs. Orion King has a planting of tulips that defies this theory. She has hundreds of yellow ones in a small planting to the east of her home. This planting is more than 20-years-old. The tulips are small but charming.

Miss Lida Fry, S. Court St., one of Circleville's truly great gardeners, has tulips she claims are more than 100-years-old.

Speaking of tulips, Circleville turned out to be a Red Emperor town this April. Many people had plantings of Red Emperor tulips. It gave our city quite a sparkle.

I missed the Magnolia, soul-angeana niger in Stoutsville this year. Many houses in Stoutsville have splendid specimens of this truly lovely magnolia. It blooms a week or so later than the pink variety, thereby missing the frostbite that victimizes earlier magnolia.

Darrell Hatfield turned up at Grange meeting with gorgeous tulips. He told Grangers they had been picked from his son's garden. I was out the next day to look over Handy Hatfield's tulip supply. Lovely!

Ralph Amey, Knollwood Village, has anemones coming up in his garden. I tried to find out from Mrs. Amey if they were the French or St. Bridgid anemones, the Grecian or Blanda variety or the Japanese.

I hope they are the French. It is not known whether or not they are reliably hardy in this area. If Ralph's wintered over it proves they are fairly tough.

We jumped the gun on what had been winter-killed in our garden. The blue bells came up in great profusion. Five out of six Bleeding Heart plants made it and even the unbeautiful glads that winter over in my garden seem to be coming. These glads are magenta in color. I keep wishing they'd winter-kill but they come through every year.

I did lose my nicest roses but I only had seven. Actually everything has put in its appearance but the hardy gloxinia and the Chinese baloon flower.

Shrubwise everything pulled through but the butterfly lilac (Buddleia) and the chaste tree (Vitex.) Even the violet jewel berry is coming up from the roots.

Mark Schumm has a new Chicago Peace rose which he says is a sport of Peace. He is anxiously awaiting its bloom.

Iris time is just around the corner. Do visit if you can wangle an invitation to the following gardens: Mrs. James Moffitt, E. Franklin St.; Mrs. Donald Wait, N. Court St.; Miss Mary Shortridge, Route 3; and Ed Ingram, Route 1, Kingston.

The Will Tolstons rose catalog won my vote as the loveliest and most interesting rose catalog of the year. The title is "Roses of Yesterday and Today."

One of the helpful services of this catalog is that pronunciations are given. For instance "angels mateu" long a favorite rose is pronounced "an-HELZ ma-Tay-oo".

The church at Whisler has an old fashioned foundation planting of spirea Van Houtte. It is blooming now and I find it very attractive. It used to be very common as a foundation planting.

The spirea came through the winter in great style. If our winters are going to be colder from now on it is well to know what's going to pull through.

Mrs. Fred Gould of Webster Groves, Mo., has kept a weather diary for many years. She claims that there's always a cold spell when the snow balls bloom. As of this writing, Mrs. Gould certainly hit the target.

It's a heartening thing to the garden editor to hear some successful gardener renowned for her green thumb admit that there are certain plants that have her buffaloed.

For instance Corilla Pontius has a difficult time getting violas to grow. Polly Measamer has failed with perennial scabiosa.

Garden Hopper Reports on Castle Garden

EDITOR'S NOTE: When we heard that Betty Gibson, Elizabethtown, Ill. was going to do some European garden hopping we asked her to report on the flowers she saw. Here is her first report.

By BETTY GIBSON

We just got back from Hampton Court. I have never seen flowers or gardens as lovely.

One garden had holly and beech trees, all kinds of flowering fruit trees, magnolias (not quite out), rhododendron and camellias just starting to bloom and lots of big rangy box.

There was a planting of daffodils (almost three acres) in front. I have never seen anything as gorgeous. All of them just tremendous. They'd make our King Alfreds look like miniatures.

Also mixed in were narcissi and just as big-gorgeous ones with bright orange centers and of course all kinds of jonquills. There were white daffodils with pink trumpets and many in different shades of yellow. There were millions of them but of course none of them were labeled.

BUT ALONG the back of the castle facing the park was this flower bed about two city blocks long and about six feet wide.

In back tulips not yet in bloom were planted. In front were masses of tulips and hyacinths and these were named.

I wrote them down for you: Tulips, Peach Blossom (a low tulip, double, the most heavenly pink); Fostoriana, Madam Le Reber — the biggest red tulips I ever saw. As big as five cup coffee pot — not a parrot type; Couleur Cardinal, a regular size tulip, blue outside and bright red inside (that's blue around edges of outside petals. Stunning!)

Narcissus, Aranjuez, yellow with bright orange trumpet. Hyacinths, Madam Du Barry, white; King of the Blues, blue and gorgeous; Ostara, blue.

One effective combination was red tulips interplanted with white candytuft, the big white kind.

In the course of the morning we learned some important facts from this landscape man. We asked him what was most important in planning a garden.

He said he thought knowing the ultimate size of what you were planting. "Things do grow and years do pass," he said, "so frequently something that looked fine in a garden when it was young grows so that it is completely out of scale."

Mr. Garmhausen said he thought scale was one of the important principles of gardening architecture.

NEXT he stressed maintenance. When people plan gardens they should keep in mind all the help they are sure of having in maintaining the garden.

"Divide this by two and scale your garden plans accordingly," he warned.

The last piece of advice he had was to have a ten dollar hole for a dollar plant. Yes, he said the hole was more important than the plant. Buy young, inexpensive plants but give great attention to the hole in which they are planted.

When he heard we lived on a farm that we were always behind in garden maintenance, he suggested a good mulch. He said to use what was available. Corn cobs, though not ground, would be an acceptable mulch.

"To make things look better scatter a very thin layer of peat moss over the corn cobs," was this fine landscape man's parting advice.

Operating Orchard Keeps Fee Brothers Plenty Busy

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES

The Fee orchard is located on the County Line road which separates Pickaway and Fairfield Counties.

The orchard is a pretty sight at blossom time — just rows and rows of pink and white trees against a sky of blue with lots of bees buzzing around and a pleasant fragrance. One might think the life of an orchardist was all apple blossoms and romance.

"Not so," said the Fee brothers. "Operating an orchard keeps a person on the jump all the time." Walter Fee and his brother, Fred, both of whom incidentally, are bachelors, claim there's lots more to orcharding than just admiring the apple blossoms. It's a year-round battle with weather, insects and disease.

And according to these energetic orchardists there's a lot of hard work over and above the eight-hour work day.

WHEN WE visited the orchard the place was jumpin'. Fred Fee was mounted on a mobile hydraulically-controlled tower pruning the trees. The Fees were late with this operation. They planned to finish during the forenoon and start spraying in the afternoon.

The pruning tower could be elevated or lowered at will and the machine can circle a tree and maneuver through the orchard with great ease. The power pruners work on the principle of compressed air.

While Fred Fee pruned his brother explained the reason for pruning which is quality fruit. "More sunlight and more air reach the apples. It's easier to spray," he said.

At harvest time the Fees depend on a good many people from the area to help with the work. At pruning time only one man, a neighbor, helped. He wielded a bolo knife slashing the lighter branches from the heavy limbs felled by Fred Fee's pruning operations.

year after year. They have many trees of one variety but it is from certain trees that the prize winning exhibits always come.

In the storage house is a packing machine. It measures and bags four pounds of apples. Some of the help insist this is the best machine the Fees have on the place.

So the Fee brothers may not be selling peaches this summer — but just wait. There'll be other peach crops bigger and better. Just give these stout-hearted energetic orchardists time.

Yes, Walter and Fred Fee are busy in the winter, too. After harvest they have the apples to sell. Much of the fruit is sold right at the apple house.

ALL THE peaches are retailed there at the orchard. With the apples it's different. They have an apple route in the winter. And they sell to super markets and stores.

The last of the apples was going to Ward's Market the very week we visited the orchard. That will give the Fee brothers time to replant and spray and do all the things that a flourishing orchard demands. Then harvest time again!

All you need to know to have a profusion of ROSES ALL SUMMER!

To have lots of blooms you must have lots of vigorous, healthy leaves. To make sure of having them — do just three things

1. DISEASE and insects destroy leaves — but a weekly application of HAZE will give them thorough protection.

2. WATER. See that your beds get at least 1/2" a week — rain or spray.

3. FOOD. A monthly feeding with Scotts DAWN fertilizer is all you need. COST? This successful Scotts Rose Program costs less than 25c a bush a year!

Vikings' Depth Provides 64-57 Dual Meet Edge

Logan Elm Thinlies Win Nine Firsts in Pre-District Contest

Depth on the Teays Valley track team provided needed points to give the Vikings a 64-57 dual meet win over visiting Logan Elm yesterday.

The Braves racked up firsts in nine of the 14 events, but Teays Valley earned seconds in all but two and added nine thirds. Double winners were Bob Parker, who topped both the 120-high and the 180-low hurdles, and Danny Hicks in the shotput and the discus.

Gary Hardman romped to wins in the 100-yard dash, the 220 yard dash and turned in the best effort in the pole vault, clearing 10-feet. He was also third in the 440 yard dash, as he led the point parade with a total of 16.

OFFICIAL field records established at the meet were in the high jump, the 440-yard dash and the 880-yard run.

Paul Hartley's effort of 5-feet, 10-inches was the best ever at the new field while Smith won the 440 in 58.45 to set a record. Bob Stant, Logan Elm half miler, won his event in 2:16.6, also a new mark at the field.

The entire TV track team travels to Worthington to participate in the Central District class AA meet while the Braves will compete there in the class A event.

120 yard high hurdles — Parker (LE), Seymour (TV), Arnold (LE), Time 1:11.
180 yard dash — Hardman (LE), Miller (TV), Martindale (LE), Time 1:13.
One mile run — Cline (TV), Swank (TV), Ray (TV).
880 yard relay — Teays Valley, Logan Elm.

In the voting to elect former greats to baseball's Hall of Fame, there is a regulation which forbids the consideration of any candidate until he has been inactive as a player for at least five years. The waiting period is intended to prevent injustices and cannot, on the face of it, be criticized.

However, this rule has not abolished abuses. There have been men elected out of order of their eminence. Many an old-timer has been left "on the outside looking in," while the record of his accomplishments faded deeper into the shadows of yesteryear—entirely beyond the eye-witness certification of more and more voters. Too many former greats have had monuments erected to them in cemeteries before they had plaques dedicated to them in Cooperstown.

Obviously not everyone can be elected at once. To throw open the gates would be to cheapen the honor. However, I would like to see justifiable exceptions made.

For instance, who is there among the Baseball Writers who would say that Stan Musial and Warren Spahn should not one day be enshrined? Waiting five years after they retire is purely a matter of form. Every time either of them enters a game he establishes another record of some sort. There is no un-elected oldster who has superior credentials to either; very few already elected enjoy a higher standing in those statistics which measure baseball greatness.

With no apologies, the rules could be suspended and these men could be admitted now as a formal recognition of their almost unique greatness. It would be fittingly unusual to see a Hall of Famer playing baseball.

Deers Score 4 Unearned Runs, Down Trojans

Freshmen Tom Hamman and Neil Coleman teamed up yesterday to hurl Williamsport to a 4-1 Pickaway County Baseball league win over host school Darby.

Hamman worked six innings, whiffing five, walking five and allowing three hits and one run. Coleman came on in relief in the final frame, was touched for two hits but set the side down without a run.

Williamsport's runs, all unearned, came in the sixth inning. Bruce Willis led off with a walk, advanced on an error that saw Don Cook safe at first. Everybody was safe on the next play. A hard hit ball by Byron Rose was bobbled by a Trojan outfielder, went over the fence and everybody scored before the ball was recovered.

Darby scored in the second when Charlie Brown singled, stole second and third and went home on a sacrifice.

DAVID ROWLAND was charged with the loss. He went the route for Darby, whiffed seven, walked two, and was touched for two hits.

Bob Vincent and Danny Bowen doubled for Darby for the only extra base hits of the game.

The final game of the season between the Deers and the Trojans is tentatively slated tomorrow at Williamsport.

Jet Stingy With Walks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When you start talking about those wild left-handed pitchers, please don't include Dick Lines of the International League's Columbus Jets. He pitches as if he invented control.

When Lines walked Steve Bilko, the hulking Rochester first baseman, in the third inning of Wednesday night's 4-1 Jet victory, it was the first pass he had issued in 35 innings this season.

Lines didn't give anything away, and his equally frugal mates made the most of their three hits. Ho Jers by Gary Rushin, Orlando McFarlane and Manny Mota accounted for all of the Jet runs off Rochester right-hander John Miller. The lone Red Wing run came from an error.

Atlanta shaded Jacksonville 3-2, Toronto tripped Buffalo 4-1 and the result of an error, a wild pitch and Bilko's double.

Atlanta shaded Jacksonville 3-2 Toronto tripped Buffalo 4-1 and Syracuse defeated Indianapolis 5-2. Arkansas and Richmond were idle.

Unio Grid Coach To Give Up Duties

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—LeRoy Silvani, who has coached basketball at Unio High School for 13 years and football there for one year, resigned from the gridiron job Wednesday.

The school has had a football team for only a year. Silvani will remain as basketball coach and assume new duties as athletic director.

Mudcat Hurls 2-Hit Win For Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim (Mudcat) Grant has been alternately hot and cold since he was hit on the arm by a line drive last month, but when he's hot, man, he really stops 'em.

The Cleveland right-hander hurled a two-hitter Wednesday night as he stopped the Rampaging Kansas City Athletics cold, 1-0.

Mudcat, in his sixth season with the Indians, called it one of the best performances he ever turned in.

"I'd say I only threw four or five bad pitches, and for me that's real good," he told reporters in the dressing room.

It was Jim's second shutout.

Grant (3-3) gave up a double to Wayne Causey in the third inning, then proceeded to set down 13 consecutive batters. The second hit, a single, came in the eighth inning.

The happy Mudcat said of the game: "That one was for little Jimmy." Little Jimmy is Grant's week-old son, who comes home from the hospital today.

Orlando Pena did a fine job pitching for the Athletics. He gave up only four hits in the seven innings he worked.

The Indians got their run in the first inning on singles by Vic Davalillo, Al Luplow and Tito Francona. Pena settled down then and blanked the Indians until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The league-leading Chicago White Sox dropped into town for a single game tonight. Cleveland's Dick Donovan will face John Buzhardt of the White Sox.

Successful Matinee Here Earns $400

The Spring Harness Matinee, held at the Pickaway County Fair grounds April 21, earned a net profit of $400, it was announced today by John Fissell, race secretary.

The money will be used toward improvements at the local track. Fissell extended thanks to the public for supporting what was considered the most successful matinee in recent years.

Vikings' Depth Provides 64-57 Dual Meet Edge

Logan Elm Thinlies Win Nine Firsts in Pre-District Contest

Depth on the Teays Valley track team provided needed points to give the Vikings a 64-57 dual meet win over visiting Logan Elm yesterday.

The Braves racked up firsts in nine of the 14 events, but Teays Valley earned seconds in all but two and added nine thirds. Double winners were Bob Parker, who topped both the 120-high and the 180-low hurdles, and Danny Hicks in the shotput and the discus.

Gary Hardman romped to wins in the 100-yard dash, the 220 yard dash and turned in the best effort in the pole vault, clearing 10-feet. He was also third in the 440 yard dash, as he led the point parade with a total of 16.

OFFICIAL field records established at the meet were in the high jump, the 440-yard dash and the 880-yard run.

Paul Hartley's effort of 5-feet, 10-inches was the best ever at the new field while Smith won the 440 in 58.45 to set a record. Bob Stant, Logan Elm half miler, won his event in 2:16.6, also a new mark at the field.

The entire TV track team travels to Worthington to participate in the Central District class AA meet while the Braves will compete there in the class A event.

120 yard high hurdles — Parker (LE), Seymour (TV), Arnold (LE), Time 17.1.
100 yard dash — Hardman (LE), Miller (TV), Martindale (LE), Time 11.3.
One mile run — Cline (TV), Swank (TV), Ray (TV).

Rose Lays Claim to Redleg Job

CHICAGO (AP)—If he keeps hitting, rookie Pete Rose may stick with the Cincinnati Reds all year.

He and veteran slugger Frank Robinson shared six hits and drove in five runs between them Wednesday to lead a 10-2 trouncing of the Chicago Cubs.

Rose is the young Cincinnati whose hustle in spring drills earned him a crack at a regular second base job.

Manager Fred Hutchinson's comment was short and direct: "I think he'll make it, but we're not going to waste any time finding out. He is going to play."

One reason Hutch has stuck with Pete during the Reds' lean hitting so far this season was his Indians, called it one of the .284 now.

Rose touched off the Reds' high-level bombing Wednesday in the third inning with a one-out single. A walk plus Jerry Lynch's single brought him home.

The Cubs brought in Jim Brewer to cut off the trouble, but it didn't work. A walk to Gordy Coleman loaded the bases and set up Robinson's two-run single. Leo Cardenas scored Coleman before the rally faded.

Labor Hails Demonstration

Display at Statehouse Opposes Idle Pay Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio labor leaders have hailed as a huge success a mass demonstration at the Statehouse against proposed legislative changes to tighten payment procedures for injured and unemployed workers.

"We think it showed, beyond any doubt, that the workers of Ohio are seriously concerned over the possible effects of this legislation on the unemployed and injured," said Elmer F. Cope, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

A crowd estimated at 8,000-10,000 by the AFL-CIO staged the hours-long march around Capitol Square Wednesday. Most of the demonstrators carried placards, and one effigy was hanged. It was surmounted by a sign, "Don't lynch the unemployed."

Below the effigy was another sign that said "Gov. Rhodes" but AFL-CIO Local 1330 of Youngstown, which hanged the effigy, said this was simply to call the display to the governor's attention.

Gov. James A. Rhodes did not witness the demonstration, however. He was in Cincinnati for two speaking engagements.

Targets of the demonstrations were House Bill 222 and Senate Bill 131. House Bill 222 increases employer contributions into the unemployment compensation fund but takes away several liberalizing provisions enacted by the 1959 Democratic legislature. The measure has been approved by the House and is pending in the Senate.

The Senate bill, which has been passed by the Senate and is awaiting action by the House, relates to workmen's compensation and gives employers more latitude in appealing cases and tightens procedures against suspected malingering.

Assessment Hearing Is Postponed Here

A hearing previously set for May 22 to hear objections to tentative assessments of costs for Circleville Sewer District No. 2 has been postponed.

The hearing will be rescheduled at the coming Tuesday Council meeting. The meeting was postponed this week after it was learned that at least two members of a previously appointed equalization board will be unable to serve.

Indications are a new equalizing board will be named Tuesday night, along with the date complaints will be heard. Approximately 30 protests to the assessment costs had been received last week.

Assessment Hearing Is Postponed Here

A hearing previously set for May 22 to hear objections to tentative assessments of costs for Circleville Sewer District No. 2 has been postponed.

The hearing will be rescheduled at the coming Tuesday Council meeting. The meeting was postponed this week after it was learned that at least two members of a previously appointed equalization board will be unable to serve.

Indications are a new equalizing board will be named Tuesday night, along with the date complaints will be heard. Approximately 30 protests to the assessment costs had been received last week.
